Council eyes $228,000 grant, Lone Star rate hike request

Georgetown's City Council will hold a final hearing on recommendations for use of the city's $228,000 Community Development Block Grant at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Council Chamber at City Hall, then consider Lone Star Gas Company's request for a rate increase during its regular meeting afterward.

The city planning staff has submitted four project proposals for Community Development funding, which is dispersed by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The list includes: drainage and street improvements in the San Jose Street area of southeast Georgetown (estimated cost $75,000); acquisition of property for a sanitary landfill ($50,000); improvement of drainage facilities along Forest Street ($25,000); and continuation of work to extend a 16-inch water main from the raw water intake structure at the North Fork Lake site to the site of a future water treatment plant ($29,200).

THE PLAN also calls for $48,400 to cover engineering and salary costs and to provide for contingencies.

Preliminary approval of the city staff's plan has already been voiced by the Citizens Advisory Commission.

Should it gain final approval from the Advisory Commission, the city's Planning and Zoning Commission, and the City Council on Tuesday, the list of proposed projects would be submitted to HUD for consideration by February 4.

THE CITY hopes for funding of the 1977 CD program by April 21.

Lone Star Gas Company last month filed a request for a rate increase which would provide the company an eight percent annual rate of return in Georgetown. Lone Star estimates the requested increase would hike the average residential customer's natural gas bill by about $1.97 per month.

The company's Georgetown manager, B. B. "Bill" Smith said when he filed the request that it was necessitated by increased costs of operation due mainly to inflation and unrecovered costs of the gas Lone Star purchases. Smith said the company needs $76,784 to cover a revenue deficiency.

ALSO SCHEDULED FOR consideration by the Council Tuesday night are:

- Bids for a two-year lease of 77 acres of city-owned land near San Gabriel Park in northeast Georgetown.

- A requested rezoning at 1599 Williams Drive

- The city's amusements regulation ordinance.

- Advertisement for bids on extension of the low-water crossing in San Gabriel Park.

- The fuel adjustment rate to be added to the city's December electricity bills.

Swine flu clinics getting under way

Flu shots will be available for the first time this weekend from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 6, and Sunday, Nov. 7.

Clinics to dispense the vaccine will be held at the courthouse in Georgetown and at locations in Granger, Leander, Round Rock, Taylor and Jarrell.

THE COUNTY HAS RECEIVED only 10,500 doses of the vaccine, therefore, shots will be given on a first-come, first-serve basis until supplies are exhausted.

Persons between 18 and 65 will receive the monovalent serum, which only protects against the Swine Flu virus. Those 65 and over, as well as those with chronic illness, will receive the bivalent vaccine to protect against all types of influenza.

The only children who may receive the vaccine this weekend are those with chronic diseases.

IMMUNIZATIONS ARE FREE and persons receiving the vaccinations need not be Williamson county residents.

Persons attending the Georgetown clinic should enter the courthouse from the south, west and north doors.

In Leander, the Leander High School Cafeteria will be the site of the two-day clinic. Round Rock area residents should go to the Community Room in the library. Taylor citizens should go to the Taylor High School.

The Saturday clinic in Granger will be at the St. Cyril School. The Sunday clinic will be held in Jarrell at the Woodman of the World Hall.

Week's news in a nutshell

A 100 year old Round Rock house tied closely to the history of this county will become the home of the Round Rock Chamber of Commerce as soon as the residence can be moved to a downtown location. The house was given to the Chamber by its present owners, Miss Mary Palm and Mrs. Margurite Palm Stockman, both of whom were born in the house.

SWINE FLU VACCINE is flowing into the county now at a rapid rate and shots are being given to hundreds of Williamson countians this weekend. A Georgetown clinic is in operation at the courthouse Sunday, from noon to 4 p.m. Other clinics will be open the same hours in Round Rock, Leander, Jarrell, Granger and Taylor. Approximately 10,000 doses of the vaccine have been received to date.

Round Rock is over the top in its United Way drive.

A CONFERENCE IN SWITZERLAND TO SOLVE the Rhodesian deadlock has broken down and Prime Minister Ian Smith is talking tough.

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Our Georgetown Community Theater people feel they have found a home at Jonah, where they are now staging their shows. They use the old schoolhouse, just off the highway, and it's fine for their performances.

JONAH IS SAID to be in the very center of Williamson County and as such would be an ideal location for a Williamson County Theater organization. What's wrong in working toward that goal?

A robust county-wide organization could have a lot of fun, put on great performances and entertain many people.

I am still impressed by what our Georgetown voters did in the Associate Justice, Supreme Court race. Write-in candidate Sam Houston won in two of our three boxes and actually carried the city, 1374 to 1309. Only one other box in the county went to Houston, tiny Gravis gave him 22 votes to 9. The Circleville vote was tied, 18 to 18. Yarborough, who faces disbarment proceedings by the State Bar of Texas, easily won over two write-in candidates, Sam Houston of Denton and Tom Lorraine of Houston.

The vote here is proof-positive that our people learn the facts as best they can before they journey to the polls.

GEORGETOWN OUTVOTED Taylor again, 3,747 to 3,109 in the presidential contest. By far, the largest single box in the county belongs to Round Rock which registered 2,419 ballots. Second biggest was Pond Springs, with 2038 votes. That gives you an idea, if you haven't already had it, how that southwest end of the county is exploding.

Assessor-collector Bill Buck was happy to have the honor of leading the ticket in the county. He had 13,045, heading off Sheriff Bosshard, Bill Lott and the other unopposed Democratic candidates at the pass. Winning this race is always a source of pleasure and pride to our county candidates. Jack Gillum nearly always led during his tenure. Sheriff Henry Matyssek and County Clerk Dick Cervenka are also past winners.

FUNNY HOW VALUES and ideas change. A few years ago Senator Edward Muskie, confronted with newspaper articles he knew were false and damaging, wept. The attitude of the press, accepted by the public, was that his weeping indicated a basic weakness. He was doomed. This week, however, we witnessed President Ford and President-elect Jimmy Carter shedding tears and none of us felt they were weak or silly. Truth is, some of us carry our emotions closer to the surface than others. I expect the strongest men in the history of civilization have shed tears of joy or frustration.

Most will stay open Vets' Day

Financial institutions and Williamson County offices in Georgetown will be closed this Thursday, November 11, in observance of Veteran's Day.

State and federal offices, including the Georgetown Post Office, will be open, providing regular services. Georgetown City Hall and the various city offices will also be open; city garbage collections will be made at the usual times on the usual routes.

The Georgetown Chamber of Commerce will also be open Thursday. Since the day is not an official Chamber Holiday, most local businesses will also be open.

THE GEORGETOWN OFFICE of Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities, Inc. will be open.

M/Sgt. Ben D. Snowden Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 8587 will sponsor its annual free breakfast for all veterans on Thursday at the Post Home on College Street, across from Georgetown's San Gabriel Park.

Serving for the veterans' breakfast will begin at 5:30 a.m.

Guest speaker will be Timothy G. Maresh, Georgetown Municipal Court Judge, who holds the rank of Lt. Col. in the U. S. Marine Reserve and is a member of the Fred L. Stanley Post of the American Legion.

Votes to be canvassed Tuesday

The Williamson County Commissioners' Court will examine the returns of the November 2 General Election in detail when they meet at 10 a.m. November 8.

Another important item on the agenda for the Monday meeting is the consideration of budgeting expenditures for Emergency Medical Services.

County fathers will hear reports on property sale, road maintenance, and preliminary hearings on three developments.

They will also consider appointments on the Child Welfare Board and review the budget for that agency.

Approving the appointment of Temporary Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Ora Nell Harkins and approving bond, are other items on the agenda.

Kubiak favors upping state share of school bill

Dan Kubiak, State Representative for the 36th legislative district, talked about school finance, the Foundation School Program and local control of schools, when he addressed the Georgetown chapter of the Texas State Teachers' Association (TSTA) last Wednesday afternoon.

Governor Dolph Briscoe recently presented proposals for 90 percent state funding of the Foundation School Program, the program which pays for the minimum requirements for public education. Kubiak told the educators that the Governor's recommendations were similar to proposals he made himself during the last legislative session.

With 90 percent state funding, the local districts would only be required to tax for the remaining 10 percent of the Foundation School Program, saving the district about $150,000, according to Jerry Graham, Business Manager for the Georgetown school system.

Representative Kubiak says that Georgetown is now paying 40 percent and the State is paying 60 percent of this basic program. "It would definitely help here," he asserted.

EDUCATIONAL FUNDING is divided into two sections: the Foundation School Program, providing minimum requirements; and educational enrichment, providing anything over the minimum.

Kubiak said. . . . "Currently the state actually pays for 45 percent of local education, the local district pays 48 percent, and seven percent is paid by the federal government. I would personally like to see the State take over the federal part. The state should pay for the Foundation (School Program) and let the local school pay for enrichment."

Does more state funding mean more state control? According to Mr. Kubiak, "No! The local district will have more control."

In this new program, the Legislature would analyze the requirements and decide what should be included in the basic curriculum for the Foundation School. The rest (selecting enrichment programs, administration, etc.) would be left up to the local districts.

MR. KUBIAK IS A MEMBER of the House Special Committee on Alternatives for Public School Finance, which voted unanimously to recommend 100 percent state funding — compared to Briscoe's 90 percent — with a ceiling on the degree local districts can enrich their programs.

Asked if he planned to present such a proposal to the 65th Session of the Legislature, Kubiak said he did. He does not expect to get such a proposal passed, however.

New plan could save GISD $167,000

If passed by the next session of the legislature, Governor Briscoe's proposals for 90 percent state funding of public schools could lower Georgetown's Local Fund Assignment by as much as $167,100 from the 1976-76 school year.

According to figures supplied by the Governor's Office of Educational Research, the total cost for the Foundation School Program for 1977-78, providing the basic educational requirements, would be $1,634,600.

The local share of the program costs would be $152,000 (roughly 10 percent).

THE STATE WOULD PAY $1,476,500 for the Foundation School Program and $90,900 for State Equalization Aid, bringing the total state aid to $1,567,400.

This is an increase in state aid of $218,400 and a decrease in local contribution of $167,100 over the 1976-76 totals.

In his school finance message, presented last Monday, the Governor also recommended placing a ceiling on taxation in each school district of $1 per $100 of property valuation.

A POLICEMAN'S PARTING SHOT

The police chief of Providence, R.I., Walter McQueeney, is retiring.

A 35-year-veteran of law enforcement leadership, one of his last official acts was to address graduates of the Police Training Academy at Bristol Community College in Massachusetts.

HE TOLD THEM to behave themselves.

Chief McQueeney said, "Americans, by tradition, are inherently suspicious of police power and a single encounter with a discourteous or abusive policeman serves only to reinforce that distrust."

He admonished the policemen-to-be to learn their own strengths, their own weaknesses, to keep themselves open to progress and even to the inevitable change which is not always progress.

He asked the recruits never to become cynical and hardened by the sight of misery.

HE TOLD THEM all the right things and then he told them how he really felt.

Providence Police Chief McQueeney says he is retiring "a sick man."

"I'm sick of seeing cops caricatured by television's 'Car 54' crew as inept incompetents."

"I'm sick of such movies as 'Dog Day Afternoon' portraying policemen as red-faced, loud-mouthed fat slob."

"I'm a sick man," said the chief. "Sick of watching newspapers make folk heroes of co-killers. I'm sick of hearing cops called pigs by punks who never work, vote or take a bath."

"And I'm sick of movies which promote and incite all the violence and violence which make the lawman's tough job tougher."

"I'm sick about Supreme Court decisions which protect the rights of lawless men at the expense of those who obey laws."

"And of those who, in the name of 'rights,' expect to get away with every 'wrong' known to God and man."

"To hell with the Civil Liberties Union," says the chief, "until such time as that outfit stops promoting just the rights of wrongdoers."

"And the very idea," says retiring Chief McQueeney, "that even an imaginary push from a policeman can result in accusations, suspension pending investigation and headlined allegations of 'brutality'."

UNTIL THE POLICEMAN goes down bleeding, brained or blinded, and nobody gets punished because the rotters won't fink and nice people don't want to get involved.

So the nice people lock themselves up while their outdoors is taken over by killers, robbers, rapists and junkies.

"Maybe someday this will turn around," the chief told the police cadets. "Meanwhile about all you can do to turn it around is to keep your nose clean, hold your head high and hang in there!" Spend, spend, spend?

There will be nothing to keep the Democrats from spending all the public money they want to spend after the first of this year.

DEMOCRATS HAVE long been tagged as "big spenders," perhaps rightly. At any rate, they will have the opportunity to prove or disprove the charge pretty soon.

The Democrats will have a president. They will also have 2 to 1 control of the House of Representatives and a clear majority in the Senate. There will be no one to veto their bills.

This could provide an interesting plot. In days gone by the Democratic Congress could pass bills giving vast and costly benefits to voters they wanted to impress, knowing that President Nixon or President Ford would veto the destructive bills.

Now the bills might be expected to sail right past President Carter without even a threat of veto. Will this make the Congress more thoughtful, more responsible? We'll have to wait a while to find out.

ACTUALLY, JIMMY CARTER may not be a rubber stamp at all. He might veto more bills passed by his fellow Democrats than Ford did.

Right now there is much we don't know about Mr. Carter. We'll be learning, however, and let's hope the knowledge gained will come as a pleasant experience. Jimmy Carter has the opportunity to do great things for America. We aren't gainsaying him a moment. We think he can if we all help, and this 2 by 4 family weekly proposes to do its small part.

Plains party line peppy

'Lord o' mercy. Wasn't that something last night?'

Editor's Note: The Jimmy Carter family of Plains, Georgia, especially his mother, "Miss" Lillian, are real characters. A staff writer of the Dallas Morning NEWS had the following story in the Thursday issue of that newspaper. We thought our readers would enjoy it:

By MARYLN SCHWARTZ

Staff Writer of The News

PLAINS, Ga. — President-elect Jimmy Carter wanted to rest Wednesday. His staff announced there would be no news conferences and no news releases.

So, if you wanted to find out anything you had to depend on the Plains party line.

That means you ask Miss Ida, who asks Miss Allie, who calls Miss Lillian directly.

As usual, the Plains party line was way ahead of the television networks.

"MISS LILLIAN says she'll talk to you directly," said Miss Allie Smith, Rosalynn Carter's mother. She handed over the telephone.

"Lord o' mercy," said Miss Lillian Carter, the president-elect's mother. "Wasn't that something last night? Do you know the entire town stayed up all night? When Jimmy came in and saw everybody waiting out there in the cold, he broke down and cried."

"In 22 months of hard campaigning, he didn't cry once. But coming home and seeing his friends in Plains, he cried. He said 'Mama, that's really something.'"

"I didn't think being holed up in a hotel room in Atlanta all night, Jimmy could possibly know just how peppy things got here Tuesday night."

"The elementary school mothers never made more than $50 selling any thing in the whole history of the school. I said 'Jimmy, they're going to name the school after you.'"

"I ALSO SAID I thought the next time they ought to sell hotdogs; they'd even make more money."

Miss Lillian said she had to go. She said she had to cook extra food for all the nice Secret Service men in the house. But she said maybe the press should go and talk to her younger son, Billy. She said sometimes people forget a younger brother, when the older brother has just been elected President of the United States.

Miss Lillian said to stop by Cousin Hugh Carter's antique shop. He would know where to locate Billy. Cousin Hugh called Miss Allie, who called Billy. He was down the street at the peanut warehouse.

Billy Carter said he didn't have to talk by telephone. He was still giving out interviews in person. But he said please talk softly, because he still had a hangover. He was up all night celebrating, too.

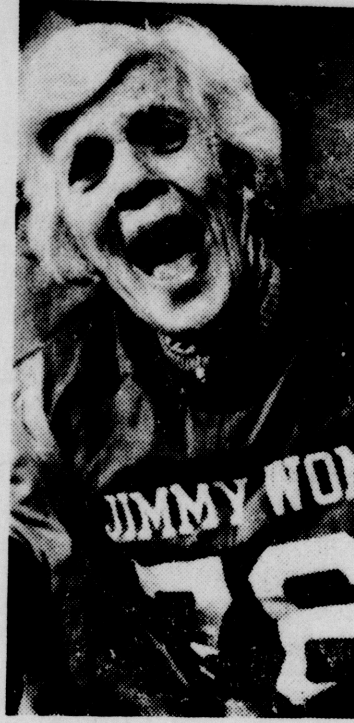

"People keep thinking all of this is going to make me feel bad," said Billy. "You know, because I'm not a politician like Jimmy. But I don't want to be. I'm just Billy. I'm content to stay home and look after the warehouse and my filling station, and I'll tell you one thing this is sure good for my filling station business."

BILLY SAID HE stayed home in Plains with his mother on election night.

"We stayed here because it was more fun. Rosalynn's mother wanted to stay in Plains, too, but she didn't want to hurt Rosalynn's feelings, so she went to Atlanta. But she kept calling us all night wanting to know what was going on in Plains."

Miss Allie Smith admitted the same thing happened to her when she went to the Democratic National Convention in New York.

COW POKES

By Ace Reid

"Womens Lib er no Womens Lib—I'm a cowboy—not a cowperson!!"

AUSTIN — Texas legislators will be heading back to Austin next January for another historic session.

One of their priority items — public school finance — already has been laid out for study and opinion sizeups.

A House sub-committee submitted a $1 billion plan for the state to assume 100 per cent of school costs. Gov. Briscoe unveiled his long-awaited 1977 school finance proposals, together with cost estimates and district ability to pay data, this week.

Fortunately, lawmakers will have another windfall surplus estimated at from $2 billion to $3 billion.

They can afford a school plan and still have cash left over, but inflation and increasing demands of state agencies will make budget-making as difficult a task as ever.

Legislators, apparently, are in an economy-first frame of mind. Certainly, state leaders — including

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton — are.

Briscoe, Hobby, Clayton, Comptroller Bob Bullock and others will offer their assessments of the 1977 session and its problems at Texas Press Association's legislative briefing at the Hilton Inn in Austin November 5.

Unemployment Drops

The jobless rate in Texas dipped slightly to 5.4 per cent in September, representing the third straight month of decline, according to Texas Employment Commission.

In August, the rate was 5.5 per cent and in July 5.8 per cent.

TEC Chairman Harold Dudley said the Texas rate is well below the national level of 7.4 per cent for September.

"This pattern of decline is traditional for the season," Dudley said. "The fact that monthly unemployment rates are following seasonal trends indicates . . . we can remain optimistic about Texas' future."

Rates vary widely by areas.

Air Service Recommended

A Texas Aeronautics Commission hearing examiner has recommended approval of Southwest Airlines' application to add Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock and Midland/Odessa to its system.

Examiner John G. Soule's recommendation will go to the commission which has a tentative meeting date set for December 1.

Southwest now offers economy air service between Dallas, Harlingen, Houston and San Antonio.

If new routes are approved, non-stop service will be added to the following city-pair markets: Austin-Corpus Christi; Austin-Dallas; Austin-Harlingen; Corpus Christi-Houston; Dallas-Lubbock; Dallas-Midland/Odessa; El Paso-Midland/Odessa and

El Paso-Lubbock.

Soule said the service would save passengers an average of 34 per cent compared to local service and trunk carrier fares over the same or comparable routes.

AG Opinion

A city governing body may spend public funds to defend an elected city official or employee sued in official and individual capacities if the suit involves an action within his scope of authority in the public interest. Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

The Terry County commissioners court is not required to have an annual independent audit of tax assessor's records, although it may call for one when the public interest would be served.

Imported beef cannot be purchased for governmental purposes.

Legal rate of interest to judgment in an eminent domain case is six per cent a year prior to Sept. 1, 1975, and nine per cent thereafter.

The Structural Pest Control Board may not issue a pest control business license or renew one if the amount of property damage liability coverage by the applicant is less than $30,000.

Funds Redistributed

Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retar-

dation approved redistribution of $4.1 million in unused funds to its facilities.

Money comes from unexpended balances in construction and operating funds during the 12-month period which ended last August 31.

Money goes to facilities in Austin, Big Spring, Kerrville, Rusk, San Antonio, Terrell, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Brenham, Corpus Christi, Denton, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Lufkin, Leander, Mexia, Richmond, San Angelo, Harlingen, Amarillo, Beaumont, El Paso and Houston.

Mattresses were replaced throughout the TDMHMR system in the redistribution due to a recent fire in which a patient was fatally injured. New mattresses will contain borax-treated cotton rather than highly-flammable man-made fibers.

Courts Speak

Millionaire Tommy Manville's ninth wife, who accepted $31,871 on a suit over a screenplay, cannot appeal for more, the State Supreme Court held.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a 20-year sentence given a Dallas man for threatening a woman with a faulty B.B. gun.

The court upheld the death penalty for a Harrison County man in a 1973 shooting.

It reversed a Dallas

He said, however, that while the signs look impressive, he can't really do anything about violations.

"Plains doesn't have a towing company, so I couldn't have them towed away if I wanted to. But I'm in charge, and I have to look firm. That's why I keep those signs up like that."

Suddenly, someone laughed and stuck her head around the door. It was Miss Lillian. She said she had to come downtown and see what was going on.

She was still wearing a green football jersey with a '76 on it and that said "Jimmy Won."

"I HAD THESE made up special for election night," said Miss Lillian. "We passed them out to all the campaign workers in Plains who were on Jimmy's team during the last 22 months. We wore them under our coats and when they announced Jimmy had gone over, we threw off our coats and showed our jerseys."

Miss Lillian said she was the first to show her jersey.

"Those networks got a little scared when I started taking off my clothes, but they liked that jersey. I told them I bet I'm the first mother of a President of the United States who ever did a strip tease on network television."

What 'Jaws' didn't tell you

By David F. Salisbury

There are many things about sharks which the best seller "Jaws" never told you.

Scientists attempting to demystify sharks have found that they:

- Are as easy to train as many mammals.
- Have a subtle but clear social organization.
- Can detect an odor up to a quarter of a mile away.
- Have keen senses of hearing and eyesight.

• Are the most sensitive known animal to electric current.

These are probably just a few of the curious traits which these 300-million-year-old creatures possess. For, according to Arthur A. Myrberg Jr. of the University of Miami, sharks remain the last "large group of animals, commonly known to man, which have consistently evaded his attempts to gather direct behavioral information."

The reason for this, he says, is that scientists have been reluctant to risk their lives to study the activity of sharks in open waters. Still, research on small and harmless varieties of these "monsters of the deep" is revealing an increasing amount of information. Besides its value for basic science, the experts hope that continuing study will lead to ways to minimize the danger sharks now represent.

There are somewhere between 200 and 350 species of shark roaming the world's oceans. In size, sharks range from the midjet midwater shark, only 8 inches long, to the whale shark, which grows to more than 45 feet. They vary in shape from eel-like, to skate-like, to the sleek torpedo shape with jutting dorsal fin, vividly pictured in "Jaws." But only 30 species are dangerous to people, says Cornell Prof. Perry Gilbert, director of the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, Florida.

Although Dr. Gilbert acknowledges that the jaws of living sharks are as mighty as those portrayed in the movie "Jaws," he notes that the risk of being struck by lightning is eight times greater than that of being attacked by a shark while swimming in the ocean.

It has commonly been believed that sharks are slow learners. But, according to Dr. Myrberg, recent work has demonstrated that young lemon and nurse sharks can be trained fairly easily and remember tasks for a long period of time. Other experiments have proven that sharks learn to ignore noises when they discover the sounds are irrelevant. This could influence the effectiveness of many shark protection schemes, he notes.

Some of Dr. Myrberg's own research suggests that shark colonies have a clear social organization, despite the fact that they are notorious for their individuality. This is based on a "straight-line, size-dependent hierarchy," he says, "in which females are clearly cautious of males."

The best-known aspects of shark behavior are their ability to see, hear, smell, and to sense electric current, the experts say.

At Mote Laboratory work has been done on the sensing ability of lemon sharks. According to Dr. Gilbert these sharks have detected small fluid samples of tuna released 75 feet up-current. And another scientist has found that a different species of shark can smell the difference between water that has held healthy, free-living fish and that which held fish disturbed by having their container shaken.

Dr. Gilbert and his colleagues are finding shark vision particularly interesting. They can see their prey up to 50 feet away. Their eyes adjust much more quickly to the dark than do human eyes. And they can see in ocean depths too dark for human vision.

But even deprived of its sight and smell, the shark can sense the presence of its prey by nerves that extend along its flanks. In the low-frequency range the shark's hearing is "many times better than that of man," says Dr. Myrberg.

As if this were not enough, the shark has an extremely sensitive electric sense. Dr. Myrberg says this is used for locating prey hidden under the sand. But such sensitivity also raises the possibility that these creatures may navigate and avoid obstacles by sensing changes in the earth's magnetic field, he says.

Sales Up

Comptroller Bob Bullock reported a total of $33.9 billion in gross retail sales in Texas during the second quarter of 1976, a 17 per cent jump over the same period last year.

Bullock said the growth exceeds all estimates of inflation and demonstrates an improving Texas economy. The analysis showed $31.5 billion in sales by Texas firms and $2.4 billion by out-of-state firms. Harris County sales increased 11 per cent to $8.2 billion and Dallas County sales by 16 per cent to $5 billion.

Georgetown Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., the city's newest automobile dealership, has opened for business just east of the intersection of Interstate Highway 35 and FM 2243 (the Leander highway).

Owners L. H. "Russ" Rausal (also president and general manager of the firm) and Clinton J. Thompson say Georgetown Chrysler-Plymouth will offer the latest in Chrysler-Plymouth cars and Dodge trucks, plus full service with top-line equipment.

BOTH RAUSAL, who has worked in the automobile field at both the factory and retail sales levels for 30 years, and Thompson, who has over 40 years experience in the business, intend to make their homes in Georgetown.

Angeley named Jr. Rotarian

Jarvis Angeley, son of Mrs. Kenneth D. Jenkins, has been selected Junior Rotarian for the month of November by the Georgetown Rotary Club.

Jarvis is a senior at Georgetown High School. He has been a member of the F.F.A. since his freshman year, played football and ran track his sophomore year, and was selected to the National Honor Society his junior year.

Harvis entered U.I.L. science and journalism events for the past 3 years and plans to enter in journalism again this year. He was given the Letter G Award in science his freshman year and placed sixth in District for headline writing last year.

Angeley is also a member of the Annual Staff.

JARVIS ANGELEY
Jarvis has applied for admission into Texas A&M and Air Force ROTC. He plans to major in electrical engineering and earn a commission in the Air Force.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — Now that we know what Texas voters said Tuesday, just what did they mean?

For one thing, it means they didn't pay any attention to the predictions that apathy would be high. Or maybe it means they did — and so they turned out thinking their vote would be even more crucial to their candidate.

IT ALL DEPENDS, of course, on your point of view. It does appear that Texas voters are pretty well satisfied with the sort of leadership they've been getting.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe got out and stumped the state for Jimmy Carter, and Jimmy Carter carried Texas.

Maybe it means Briscoe "won" Texas for Carter. Maybe it means Texans really trusted the Georgian. Or that they really trusted Briscoe. Or they just didn't trust Jerry Ford.

But probably it's a tribute to Briscoe's standing with the electorate, a regard Briscoe has fostered through his no-new-taxes, trim-the-size-of-government regime.

Briscoe seems to feel that it indicates his stock is high enough for him to cash in for a second four-year term.

Texans also indicated satisfaction with Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., sending him back to Washington for another six years.

AND VOTERS INDICATED approval of the way members of the Congressional delegation have been functioning, sending the incumbents back Potomacway, with the exception of short-term incumbent Ron Paul, edged in a Houston squeaker by former State Sen. Bob Gammage.

Members of the State Senate fared well, too, as did incumbent House members.

All in all, it looks as if the 1977 Legislature will have much the same look as the 1975 Legislature, with both sides of the rotunda having a middle-of-the-road conservative look. (The party affiliation of the Senate remains at 28 Democrats and three Republicans, while the GOP picked up a net two seats on the House side — for 18 out of 150).

Voters also said they didn't want to allow another $400,000,000 in water development bonds — but did want another $100,000,000 in water quality enhancement bonds.

MAYBE THAT MEANS Texans feel like there's plenty of water — but it's just not clean enough.

Or maybe they thought $400,000,000 was too much. Or that the program was too expensive. Or that it hadn't been proved necessary. Or they didn't trust the Water Development Board. Or they just didn't understand the amendment. Again, it depends on who you ask.

One explanation for the apparent apathy which had worried some politicians, pollsters and reporters seem to be that voters were ready to vote, and were just tired of all the campaigning.

One thing that does seem certain about Tuesday's vote is that it shows voters in Texas, and in the rest of the nation, do care, and are concerned, about what's going on in their government.

Comments from voters leaving the polls indicated that restoring trust in government, more than economy, foreign policy or other issues, was the thing on their minds.

THAT'S A CHEERING NOTE for the start of the United States' third century of independence.

Democracy, as Winston Churchill once remarked, is the worst form of government known to man — except for all the others.

Maybe that's the message in Tuesday's vote.

SU hosts college student leaders

More than 100 student leaders from colleges and universities across the state are attending the Texas Student Association's fall convention at Southwestern University this weekend.

A full schedule of workshops, seminars and lectures began Friday morning and continued through Saturday, while a legislative session of TSA was scheduled for Sunday morning.

"WE INVITED every college and university — all 120 of them — in Texas," said Steve Cragg, vice president of Southwestern's Student Senate and the convention's organizer.

"We especially encouraged representatives of the private, independent colleges and universities to attend this year," Cragg said.

Headliners on the program included State Representative Mickey Leland of Houston, who was the keynote speaker at the Friday luncheon, and State

Rep. Fred Head, who was on a panel to discuss "The Future of Higher Education in Texas: Cost and Quality" at Saturday's luncheon.

Workshops and seminars explored such topics as TSA history, university governance, innovative curriculum, faculty evaluation, legal rights and grievances of students, student loans and defaults, and "how to lobby."

FLORENCE NEWS

BY MRS. J. E. CASKEY

Mr. and Mrs. Les Burgess of New Braunfels were in Florence to take Mrs. L. R. Armstrong to visit Miss Lola Wales at the Wesleyan Home in Georgetown.

Mrs. Estelle Stapp was in Austin to visit Quinton Stapp and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Hallmark shopped in Georgetown on Saturday.

Russell N. Watson Jr. of Silsbee visited the J. E. Caskeys Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Claude Brizendine was among the Saturday shoppers in Georgetown.

Weekend guests in the Ed Rose home were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lyles of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Grimm and Rusty of Georgetown and Miss Dina Rose of San Marcos.

Mrs. Joe H. Whittenberg of Georgetown attended services at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and spent the day with her aunt, Mrs. L. R. Armstrong. They attended the dedication service and barbecue supper later in the day.

Mrs. W. D. Walker left Monday for Granbury to visit the Bobby Rosenbusch family.

Mrs. Clytus Caskey was shopping in Georgetown Saturday.

Mrs. Estelle Stapp was in Round Rock to visit her sister at the Lutheran home.

Dedication services for the Educational Building were held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. Officiating at the dedication were Bishop W. McFerrin Stowe; the Rev. Michael Patison, District Superintendent; and the Rev. David Seilheimer, pastor of the church. Tom Atkinson and Ed Rose presented the building for dedication. The note was burned after the Bishop's sermon.

A number of visitors from other towns were present. A barbecue supper was served after the service.

Rev. and Mrs. Pat McClatchy, who lived here when he was pastor, sent beautiful flowers.

Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Stein, former pastor, now of Killeen, were present for the service.

Quinton Staff of Austin was the supper guest of his mother, Mrs. Estelle Stapp, the last of the week.

Mrs. Sam Windsor of Austin

was a visitor in Florence on Sunday.

Herbert W. Smart of Austin visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smart, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Alberts spent a very busy week around Dallas and Fort Worth.

On Friday, October 23, they went to Plano. They visited in the Donald Shinn home, where they were joined by their son, Grady. All then went to hear Grady play Saturday with the Tommy Latham Show at the Fort Worth-Dallas Airport Marina Hotel Penthouse Club.

Sunday they attended the Dallas Cowboy/Chicago Bear football game. Then on Monday, the Alberts went to Fort Worth to attend the Grand Chapter of Texas, 94th Session, Order of the Eastern Star.

Thursday they returned home.

Also attending the Grand Chapter Session from Florence Chapter were Mrs. Evelyn Caskey, Mrs. Alberta Mallett and Mrs. Nettie Cargill.

Several members of the Levis and Lace Club have been visiting their caller, Slim Herrington, who is a patient in Kings Daughters Hospital, Temple. Slim fell and broke his hip on the patio of the square dance building on Brewster Street just prior to their regularly scheduled dance on October 23.

Everyone was grateful to the 2 callers who came to help with their dance on that night.

Several members attended the Lem Gravelle Dance held in the Community Center in Georgetown, Saturday night.

Lem is from Louisiana and is quite an interesting individual as well as an excellent caller.

Mrs. Louise Zander dies in Taylor

Mrs. Louise Schier Zander, 82, of Route 1, Bartlett, died Tuesday evening, November 2, 1976 in a Taylor Nursing Home.

Mrs. Zander was born February 4, 1894 in Burton. She was a member of St. Peter Lutheran Church at Walburg. She had been a resident of Route 1 for the past 76 years.

Services were held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. from St. Peter Lutheran Church at Walburg. Reverend Bill Metting officiated at the service. Interment was in the church cemetery under the direction of Condra Funeral Home of Taylor.

Mrs. Zander is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Emma Braun of Georgetown; Miss Marie Schier, Mrs. Norma Braun and Mrs. Richard Schneider, all of Bartlett and one brother, A. O. (Pete) Schier of Taylor and a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were Charles Braun, Raymond Clark, Clarence Liese, Doyle Hobbs, Howard Tonn, Alek Bielss, Cecil Schneider, Robert Schier and William Tonn.

Honorary pallbearers were Eugene Marak, Larry Bielss, Paul Lindholm, Jr., Wayne Braun and Pat Braun.

Conservation awards to be presented Tues.

Two local ranchers, Harlan "Bud" Lee and D. B. Wood will receive conservation awards Tuesday night.

The annual Little River-San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District Awards Supper will be held at 6 p.m. on November 9 in the Bartlett Town Hall.

Retired District Judge D. B. Wood will receive an award for Wildlife Conservation. He is credited with making the effort to bring deer to Williamson County.

In 1939, Judge Wood obtained 20 fawn from the Texas Game Department, the predecessor of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. At the time, there were very few deer in the county. He introduced the herd of 20 and the population of deer in the county is largely the result of his efforts.

Bud Lee will be honored as the Outstanding Conservation Rancher of the County. He and his wife have operated a ranch on Highway 29, west of Georgetown for the past 12 or 15 years. They have developed an excellent program of conservation and their efforts will also be recognized Tuesday night.

Speaker for the occasion will be Johnny Watkins of KWTX-TV and radio of Waco.

Tickets are $2.75 for the supper. They are available at the door or at the District Conservation Office in Georgetown from E. L. McAndrew.

FOOD TRAINING will be conducted for all 4-H Foods Leaders and Junior Leaders on Wednesday, November 10th. We will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Texas Power and Light Meeting Room in Taylor. We will go over rules of the Food Show, distribute materials and have a short demonstration. All 4-H Foods Leaders and Junior Leaders are urged to attend.

THE WILLIAMSON COUNTY 4-H council is made up of two delegates from each 4-H Club across the County. They meet every other month to plan county activities and discuss the 4-H program. Officers for the Council are: President-Gayle Brister, Taylor; Vice-President-Ernie Rohlack, Coupland; Secretary-Elaine Lange, Thrall; Treasurer-Michael Lidell, Jonah. These new officers will guide the council through the coming year. The next meeting of the County Council will be December 6th in Leander. The meetings are hosted by the different 4-H Clubs and rotated across the county.

GAYLE BRISTER, Taylor; and ERNIE ROHLACK, Coupland; will represent Williamson County on the District 10 4-H Council. The District Council meets three times a year to plan District activities and events. The District Council also gives the youngsters an opportunity to discuss county activities and keep up with what is happening in 4-H. We are pleased to have these two youth serve as a link between Williamson County 4-Hers and the other 17 counties in District 10.

ON SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, beginning at 8:30 a.m. we will have a 4-H work day at the Williamson County Livestock show barn in Georgetown for 4-H members with livestock projects. If you need help trimming your livestock project, make plans to attend this work session. It will be necessary for you to bring your livestock to the show barn in Georgetown.

In an Energy Efficient Home... it's the things you can't see which can save the most money.

Texas Power & Light has an important new program of help for home owners, home buyers and home builders. TP&L's "135-Point Energy Efficient Home Plan" is a complete guide for savings on the cost of electricity in the home.

The program is explained in a 16-page booklet which is yours for the asking. The booklet tells not only how to get the most efficient use of electric appliances and equipment you now have, but things to consider in selecting replacement or additional appliances and equipment. The most valuable part of the booklet is the 135-point rating checklist which you can use to measure the energy efficiency of your present home or one you may be planning to buy or build. You'll learn how it's the things you can't see... construction and insulation of the home, location and installation of heating and cooling ducts, etc.... which can save the most money.

For your copy of the "135-Point Energy Efficient Home Plan" booklet, visit, call or write a Texas Power & Light Company office... it's yours without cost or obligation.

Congressman to visit SU

Henry B. Gonzalez, U. S. Congressman from San Antonio, will be at Southwestern University Tuesday, Nov. 9, for a series of talks.

Gonzalez' principal speech will be at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in Bishops Memorial Union. It will be open to the public.

THE CONGRESSMAN is also slated to speak to a government class later that morning and at noon to the Political Science Society.

Gonzalez was elected to Congress in 1961 and he has moved up in House leadership to the post of zone whip for the entire Texas delegation.

He has served since 1971 as chairman of the international monetary institutions and finance subcommittee of the House Banking, Currency and Housing Committee. He also serves on the House Committee on Small Business.

AMONG HIS MOST singular legislative accomplishments have been the defeat of the bracero program in 1963 and the passage of legislation calling for federal sanction and participation in HemisFair 1968.

With his election in 1956 to a four-year term in the Texas Senate, Gonzalez became the first citizen of Mexican descent to be seated in that body in 110 years. In the Texas Senate, Gonzalez, with Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo (now also a U.S. Representative), participated in the longest filibuster in the history of Texas. The two directed the filibuster against what they called 10 "race" bills previously passed by the House of Representatives.

Congressman Gonzalez' visit is sponsored by the Bicentennial Committee of Southwestern University.

The Title VII Nutrition Proposal, providing money for nutrition for the elderly, is one of the topics on the agenda for the Monday night meeting of the Board of Directors of Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities, Inc.

Williamson County is next in line to present a proposal for nutrition for the elderly to the Governor's Committee on Aging, according to Florence Ebeling of the Center. The proposal will include pilot programs in Georgetown, Taylor and Round Rock, feeding 122 senior citizens per day at the neighborhood centers.

At the November 8 meeting, Rawleigh Elliot will also discuss family planning recommendations and Ardeella Ramey will explain the changing emphasis in the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA).

A House sub-committee agreed Texas' presidential preference primary law should be revived, with refinements.

$100 million plan OK'd

Water bonds lose, sewers win

Georgetown and Williamson County joined state voters in rejecting a $400 million water bond proposal and accepting a $100 million proposition to improve sewer systems that state voters approved.

ACCORDING TO UNOFFICIAL counts the second proposition carried by 107 votes in Georgetown and 6 votes in the county.

Seventy-five percent of county voters cast ballots in the bond issues. A spokesman for Texas Secretary of State Mark White said it was not unusual for bond issue voting to run lower than presidential voting in the same election.

Texas Election Bureau officials said 2,099,225 persons voted in the Proposition No. 1 race and 2,108,211 in the Proposition No. 2 contest. This is about half the 4,007,586 who voted in the presidential race.

THE REJECTED PROPOSAL would have allowed issuance of $400 million in bonds for water projects. It would also have allowed the Texas Water Development Board to issue up to $35 million in bonds for projects without legislative approval.

WATER BOND opponents claimed the proposal would have given a few officials almost unlimited power to shape the state's water development.

John Henry Faulk, head of Citizens Against Water Taxes, which fought the water bond plan, said the results showed Texans "too smart to buy a pig-in-a-poke."

Faulk said the referendum failed primarily because officials did not specify how the bond money would be used.

Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton, who endorsed the water bond plan along with Gov. Dolph Briscoe, said voters may not have been well informed on the issue.

CLAYTON ADDED, "Also, there was a lot of emphasis in this election on the presidential contest. It (the bond issue) never got off the ground."

The second proposition, which passed, will provide loans to local governments improving their sewer systems. Faulk praised its passage, saying he felt it would help stop water pollution in Texas.

SNAKE HUNTING ANYONE? — Mervin Walker spotted this five foot, three inch rattlesnake crawling into a hole on the Milton Wolbrueck place near Weir Tuesday. Charles Smith gathered up the snake catching equipment Wednesday morning and a few brave citizens went snake hunting. Charles managed to capture the snake alive; however, it coiled around the catcher pole and broke its neck. Charles proudly displays his catch, holding it by the tail while Mervin stands at a safe distance behind. The snake weighed 7 1/4 pounds and was 8 1/2 inches in circumference. The rattlers had been broken leaving only six.

Behind the making of
Gone With the Wind

PEOPLE'S CHOICE: Clark Gable, seen here as the gambling ladies' man Rhett Butler, was without a doubt the public's choice for the part in "Gone With The Wind," something that always embarrassed the self-effacing Gable.

"Like the audience at that time, Selznick had a very romantic view of Hollywood, a real love of it."

That's how film director George Cukor once described producer David O. Selznick, the man most responsible for the film adaptation of Margaret Mitchell's best-selling novel, "Gone With The Wind," which will be colorcast in two parts -- as a Big Event Sunday, Nov. 7 (8-11 p.m., EST) and Monday, Nov. 8 (8-10 p.m., EST; 9-11 p.m. PT) -- on the NBC Television Network.

The son of movie pioneer Lewis J. Selznick and the son-in-law of MGM head Louis B. Mayer, the younger Selznick was very much aware of his family ties and eager to establish a reputation on his own.

Before his 30th birthday, he was at the helm of RKO Studios, responsible for such films as "Little Women," "King Kong," "Of Human Bondage" and "What Price Hollywood." He then moved to MGM where he produced "Dinner at Eight," "Viva Villa," "Anna Karenina," "David Copperfield" and "A Tale of Two Cities."

But the desire to be on his own prompted Selznick to form his own company, Selznick International Pictures, taking over the former Thomas Ince studio in 1935.

Soon developing a reputation for producing supremely crafted motion pictures, Selznick suffered economically until he was convinced to produce "Gone With The Wind."

When filming was completed, the producer remarked just before a Hollywood press preview: "At noon I think it's divine; at midnight I think it's lousy. Sometimes I think it's the greatest picture ever made. But if it's only a great picture, I'll be satisfied."

When an arthritic condition precipitated an early retirement from an active career as a feature journalist for the Atlanta Journal Sunday magazine, a young Atlanta woman was persuaded by her husband to write a novel.

The time was 1926. Nine years later, Margaret Mitchell's voluminous manuscript was presented to a representative of McMillan publishers, who promptly responded to the new writer's anxiety with a reassuring check for $5,000.

The novel was "Gone With The Wind." While the movie has gained a grand reputation, the book has also claimed a niche in publishing history as well.

Its 1,307 page length was a record for a novel at that time. As the work of an unknown author, it was a selection for the Book of the Monty Club prior to

GAME PLAYERS -- Was Robert Culp ever a regular on The Name of the Game? Tommy says he replaced Tony Franciosa for half a season, I say he only appeared in one or two shows. Mark Feinberg, Nutley, N.J.

Tell Tommy he's wrong this time. After Franciosa was dropped from the series, Culp, as well as a number of other actors, did guest spots, filling in for him. Culp appeared in an episode with Barbara Feldon, in which she played a poor little rich girl turned environmentalist radical. Is that the one you remembered?

COMPANY CAR -- Does the red car with a white stripe for Starsky and Hutch belong to Paul Michael Glaser and what is Paul's address? Mike Goodknight, Frederick, Okla.

Lots of interest in Glaser this week. The Torino, like all cars used in television, is merely another piece of company property. It doesn't belong to Glaser but to the show's production company, which is where you can write to him: Spelling-Goldberg Productions, 20th Century Fox, 10201 West Pico Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif.

'21 Hours at Munich':
Anti-terror memorial

"We wanted to do something in memory of the innocent young men who were caught up in a situation not of their making and were forced to sacrifice their lives," say Frank von Zerneck and Robert Greenwald, the youthful co-producers of "21 Hours at Munich," the new movie which recreates the horrors surrounding the 1972 Olympics. The film airs on The ABC Sunday Night Movie Nov. 7 (9-11 p.m., EST).

"It's a story that should be told; it is not a cops-and-robbers suspense drama, nor it is overly political, but it does come out strongly anti-terrorist. You can't argue with the truth."

The details of the story are painfully familiar to the millions all over the world who watched the 15 hours of live coverage by the ABC Sports team on the scene. Eight Palestinian terrorists climbed over the fence of the Olympic Village to take the Israeli athletes as hostages in an attempt to force the Israeli government to release 236 Arab prisoners. Twenty-one hours later, 17 people were dead -- 11 Israelis, five terrorists and one West German.

Starring in the recreation -- which relied entirely on eyewitness reports -- are William Holden as Munich Chief of Police Manfred Schreiber, Shirley Knight as Annaliese Graes, a member of the Women's Olympic Security Service who became the contact point between the terrorists and the authorities, and Franco Nero as Issa, leader of the Palestinians.

Painstaking research was provided by the producers, writers Howard Fast and Edward Hume and director William Graham before filming began at 30 Connollystrasse and the airfield at Fuerstenfeldbruck in Munich, the actual sites of the tragedy.

The German government reports were studied carefully and the services of three technical advisors were obtained: two were retired policemen and the third was Annaliese Graes, now a member of the Police Department in Essen, West Germany. (Even the clothing of these involved is exactly duplicated.)

"Everything there looks the same as it did in 1972," von Zerneck says, "except that there is more shrubbery than four years ago. The apartments on Connollystrasse, now called the Max Planck Institute, now house visiting psychiatrists, who are given six months free rent."

The subject is, naturally, a very sensitive one in Germany, but the producers are high in their praise of the cooperation given to them by the Munich city and Bavarian state governments: "Everyone was helpful; they gave us armored troop carriers, helicopters and police cars so we could present the incidents the way they happened. We had full access to all the evidence and we even talked to people who were not interviewed at the time."

The film makes no effort to portray Issa as a sympathetic character, but the producers note that "The Palestinians were not lunatics; Schreiber and Annaliese told us they behaved like professionals, calculated and well organized. Schreiber said, 'How do you deal with men who are as smart as you are and hold all the cards?' Franco Nero plays Issa as a determined and dangerous man."

"We wanted to show the frustration and meaninglessness of terrorism, and the fact that it is impossible to defuse once the first step has been taken. When it happens, it must be confronted immediately."

Ironically, the movie completed filming on July 4 -- the date that Israelis went to Entebbe on a startling and successful rescue mission that paralleled the plan put forth (and rejected) by Israeli General Zvi Zamir (played in the movie by Anthony Quayle) in Munich in 1972.

TV Dial-ogue

U.N.C.L.E II -- Is it true they're going to remake the TV series The Man from U.N.C.L.E.? It was my favorite show. Will David McCallum be in it? Deidre Mizkly, Waterbury, Conn.

MGM is indeed making an attempt to bring the series back to television. They are trying to entice both McCallum and Robert Vaughn to recreate their original roles of Illya Kuryakin and Napoleon Solo. Whether the idea comes to fruition seems to rest on the okay of these two actors.

STARCROSSED -- I recently saw an old movie on TV called "Six Bridges to Cross." Tony Curtis starred in it, but in the beginning there was another actor playing Curtis' part as a teenager. A friend of mine says it was Tommy Sands. I say Sal Mineo. Who's right? Jack Kullen, El Paso, Tex.

You are. The late Sal Mineo starred in that film, his first.

GLASER AGE -- How old is Paul Michael Glaser, is he married and is that a Boston accent I detect in his voice? Mary Lee Kelly, Manchester, N.H.

Glaser is 33, single and it's a Cambridge, Mass., accent you detect, which is close enough to Boston.

David Birney's back

A good actor gives TV another go

By DAN LEWIS

The good acting that men do is oft interred in their public images -- to paraphrase the Bard. And so it is with David Birney, who has won awards for his acting in theater but is best remembered to date as Bernie, the young man loved by Bridget in a mindless situation comedy series, Bridget Loves Bernie, a few seasons back.

How many TV devotees know that David Birney won a Theater World award for his performance in "Summertime," at New York's Lincoln Center, portraying the young man who went to Vietnam to die? Or that he was a member in excellent standing at both Lincoln Center Repertory Theater and the New York Shakespeare Festival, or that he played Romeo at the American Shakespeare Theatre in Stratford, Conn.?

They remember him for Bridget Loves Bernie.

But now Birney has returned to the regular television wars, in a role so diametrically opposed to the character in his last series that he hopes people will recognize his wide scope as an actor. Birney, of course, is the star of Serpico, an NBC series (Friday nights at 10-11), bringing to the small screen the further adventures of a former real-life New York undercover cop named Frank Serpico, who was so conscientious, that when Serpico was shot in the face by a punk, his fellow cops took up a collection -- for a lawyer for the perpetrator.

Serpico was first portrayed in a feature film by Al Pacino. The film about his admitted bisexuality, and talks with rock star Kiki Dee, Daily Mail gossip columnist Nigel Dempster and sex book author Jackie Collins.

4:15 36 ALL NITE MOVIE III

"Journey Into Fear" (1942) Orson Welles, Joseph Cotten.

CYCLING round town is David Birney who had to learn to ride a motorcycle for his role as Frank Serpico. So far, he's only had one crack-up.

grossed over $20,000,000. It was expanded into a TV pilot, with Birney in the role of cop who fought corruption within the department as well as criminals.

When the company came into New York for several weeks of shooting, a police car drove up to Birney one afternoon on a street location, and the cop at the wheel wanted to know what film they were shooting.

"It's a television series -- Serpico," Birney answered.

The cop in the police car made a sour face, raised the back of his fingers to the underside of his chin and flicked them out in a well-known gesture of contempt. They're not too crazy about Serpico around New York police circles.

Serpico wrote a book about his experiences in New York, which Birney read. "I wanted to get a feel of the character," Birney said.

What was his reaction to Pacino's portrayal in the film? "Pacino is a good actor, too," Birney said with a smile. "But there are certain things that will come out differently."

Birney's reaction to his Bridget Loves Bernie experience is mixed. The show did have good ratings. Why not? It was sandwiched between All in the Family and Mary Tyler Moore Show on Saturdays. It was a false security, and the network (CBS) realized that. Unfavorable reviews were universal and the show was cancelled after just a single season, although it ranked in the top 20 most of the season.

"But I had a complicated reaction," Birney confesses. "I enjoyed doing it, I was disappointed in the level of achievement. It was no relief when it was over."

But the biggest bonus from that series was that he won a wife. He married the young lady who played Bridget, Meredith Baxter. They now have a little daughter, (Meredith has two children from a previous marriage).

"So good and bad things came out of it," Birney joked.

He decided to push "new frontiers" in his acting career after the series, which, incidentally, was his first in prime time. (He had been featured in the daytime soap opera, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" for two years before going to Hollywood.)

But after Bridget Loves Bernie, Birney did "Romeo and Juliet," and the Public Broadcasting series "The Adams Chronicles," a movie in Europe, and a guest-starring role on "Police Story."

"They were the kind of roles -- like Serpico -- people wouldn't expect to see me playing," Birney observed.

He did have some trepidation about going back into a series. It was not because of the disappointment of his previous series experience, he emphasized.

"I know how much hard work there is -- 60 to 70 hours a week," Birney declared. "There is enormous pressure, especially knowing the kind of money that is at stake. And you work six and seven days, without time to even rehearse."

One of the demands of the new role was to learn how to ride a motorcycle, which he had never done before. The first day at work, he was taking instructions on driving the motorcycle when he lost control of it and ran into a crowd of workers. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured.

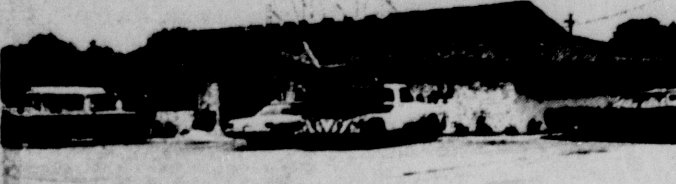

Birney hopes the critics, and the viewers have the kind of patience that rarely is evidenced when it comes to the security of a television series. "The first six or seven episodes of any show really are the shakedown," he explained. "I hope the critics are patient."

FOOTBALL CONTEST

PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November. So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $10, $5 or $3 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.

SAUERKRAUT COOKS Mrs. Walter Mickan of Walburg (left) and Mrs. Edgar Bamsch of Jarrell had to cook up a storm to keep a supply running between the kitchen of Walburg's Zion Lutheran School and the tables in the dining hall, where Wurstbraten patrons were eagerly digging into German cuisine.

Wurst, wurst everywhere

Sausage, sausage, and more sausage was the order of the night last Monday at Walburg's Zion Lutheran School, where the Zion Church of the community held its annual Wurstbraten (sausage fry) festival. A miniature of a similar event to the south, New Braunfels' annual Wurstfest, Wurstbraten featured about 1,600 pounds of home-made wurst, smoked and then cooked to perfection over wood coals in outdoor pits. Approximately 1,000 people from Georgetown, Walburg, Jarrell, and other surrounding communities turned out to enjoy the German fare in the Zion School's gymnasium, nearly overwhelming the hard-working cooks indoors and outdoors.

Work for the Wurstbraten begins with smoking of the sausage the Saturday before the event, and continues until the last lip-smacking morsel has been consumed and the last dish washed.

When last Monday's edition of Wurstbraten was concluded, Walburg workers reported almost all the mountain of food had been eaten. Money collected (at $2.50 a plate) from the dinner and from sales of extra sausage will go this year for renovation of the kitchen and dining facilities in the school.

The church members who arranged the affair expressed thanks to everyone who turned out for their festival. They (and their satisfied customers) are eagerly looking forward to next year's.

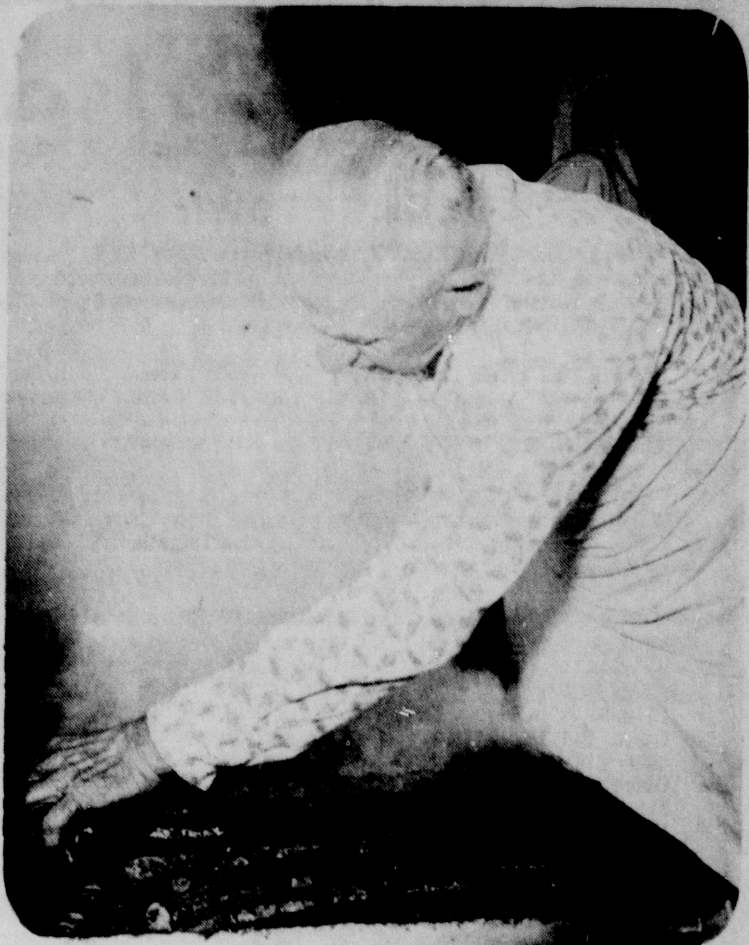

WHAT YOU SEE is what you get, proclaims Norman Domel's apron as he and Robert Domel of Thorndale enjoy Walburg's Wurstbraten (sausage fry) festival. The slogan turned out to be apt as about 1,000 people got about 1,600 pounds of sausage last Monday night in the community north of Georgetown.

AND WHEN THE PARTY'S OVER, there's (ugh) the washing to be done, as evidenced here by (from left) Mrs. E. E. Boriack, Mrs. Schwausch, and Mrs. Al Litzler. Members of the Zion Lutheran Church congregation in Walburg were tying up the loose ends long after their visitors had departed with smiling faces and content tummies.

SMOKE GETS IN YOUR EYES when you're frying homemade sausage in pits, as Wurstbraten cook Herman Teinert finds out. Benny Draeger of Georgetown (background) seems to have a handful of the stuff.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

The voter turnout for the big election was quite good, and I am proud to say that it was my privilege to be among the group to take advantage of one of our most valuable freedoms — the right to vote!

After going by the scene of our International Sculpture Symposium and observing the dedicated people at work, I have an even greater respect for people who are dedicated enough to indulge in the art. Only someone with a very unique strength of character and an exceptional desire to create something of lasting beauty, would endure the cold and discomfort that must be associated with sculpting.

Last Wednesday morning two busloads of students from Austin came up to our town to observe the artists in action, all for free. We sincerely hope that everyone in the area will have the desire to come by and take advantage of this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see these renowned artists from many farflung parts of the world at work right here in Liberty Hill!

The Liberty Hill Panther Band will be attending the UIL Marching Contest which will be held in Round Rock next Tuesday, November 9.

Our Band will be performing at 10:40 a.m. at the Round Rock football field, and your presence and support will be deeply appreciated by all of the musicians and their director!

The Liberty Hill girls have started practice in preparation for the coming basketball season.

All of the students were very pleased by the mighty Panthers' victory over the Florence Buffaloes last Friday evening by the score of 14-0. There was a "victory dance" after the game.

The Panther Drill Team will perform at one of the pep rallies soon.

The Halloween King and Queen, Curtis Floyd and Cindy Montgomery, were crowned at the carnival last Saturday night.

The Community League Football Association will sponsor a "turkey shoot" on Sunday afternoon, November 7, at 2 at the Liberty Hill Roping Arena 2 miles southwest of Liberty Hill on FM Road No. 1869. The admission charge will be 50¢, for adults, and everyone under 14 years will be admitted free.

The events will include a turkey scramble, for youngsters between the ages of 5 and 9. There will be another for everyone between the ages of 10 and 14. The entry fee will be 50¢ for each contestant.

Other events will include categories for big bore rifles with a scope, big bore rifles without a scope, .22 rifles with a scope, pistols, and trap shooting. Each contestant has his choice of shooting positions (kneeling, prone or sitting) but no artificial rests will be allowed.

A frozen turkey will be given to the winner of each event, and everyone is encouraged to come out, have a "fun time" and help promote the Community League Association Program.

The Community League Football Association will have two "ALL STAR GAMES" on Saturday, November 6, at 4 p.m. on the Liberty Hill High School football field.

The first game will be for boys 7 through 9 years who are coached by Jim Brewer, Loni Loyd, and Anthony Stephens. The opposing team will be The Austin Golden Eagles and Coach Johnny Earle who have won 7 games and lost 3.

At 6 p.m. a Liberty Hill Team for 9 through 12 year-olds under coaches, Gilbert Vickers, Tommy Farr, and Howard Earle will play an Austin Golden Eagle Team for boys of the same age.

During the halftime of the game, for the 9 through 12 year-olds the "sweethearts" of the Liberty Hill Cubs and the Liberty Hill Shorthorns will be crowned.

Also during the half, a rifle will be given to the holder of the lucky ticket.

These games are expected to be fast moving and exciting, and everyone is exhorted to come out to these games and show your support of our Liberty Hill boys!

The Liberty Hill Garden Club will have the regular monthly meeting on November 10 at the Rock Church of Christ. The guest speaker of the day will be someone with you. We will learn together!"

The Ladies of The Liberty Hill Garden Club have been preparing lunch for the sculptors each Monday, and they will continue to do so for the duration of the symposium.

We got a report from Margaurite Nix of Nix Haven that she had 41 guests at her picnic in observance of her eightieth birthday anniversary, but Mrs. Nix was the only one of her age from our town to come out. It was a bit of a disappointment that no one else in the eighties took advantage of the beautiful weather.

The guests who were there from many points all over Texas had a good lunch of chicken, salad, cake and drinks. Everybody had so much fun playing the games and enjoyed the wonderful serenity of the surroundings at the little park that they plan to come back next year!

We were pleased to learn from Nancy Leuschner that she and husband, David, are the very proud parents of a bouncing baby boy, David Martin, who was born October 4 at the Georgetown Hospital.

Young David weighed 9 pounds, 3 ounces, and he was 21 inches long at birth.

The young man was greeted at home by a brother, Tony, and two sisters, Anna and Lisa. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seaton of Florence, Alabama, and Mrs. Florence Leuschner of Denville, New Jersey. It was a pleasure meeting Nancy and young David Martin, and we sincerely congratulate David and Nancy. That's all for now. KEEP SMILING!!

Liberty Hill board meets Monday

Liberty Hill's school board will hear a report on a study by the Governor's Office of the taxable wealth of school districts when it meets in the high school at 7:30 p.m. Monday, November 8.

Also scheduled for consideration by the board are: a report by the district's tax assessor-collector; the University Interscholastic League's football plan for 1977; a proposed change in policy regarding pay periods for school district employees; modification of Wednesday school schedules for curriculum development purposes; finishing of floors in the high school; and vouchers.

The board will also consider a real estate transaction during a closed session before it adjourns.

Let's stop rape

The Georgetown Women's Political Caucus is presenting a program on rape Tuesday night.

A rapist, popular belief tells us, is the son of a domineering mother, the husband of a nagging wife, or the frustrated neurotic consumer of sexual material, who goes berserk.

Not so, say FBI statistics. The rapist is not very different from the typical perpetrator of other violent crimes.

Research has shown he frequently lives in or near the victim's neighborhood. Rape is usually planned. It is not generally the spontaneous explosion of uncontrollable need.

Often the lone rapist or the gang of rapists lure the victim into an advantageous place or set up the situation and select the victim by chance. Usually physical force or display of a dangerous weapon is an element of the sexual assault.

The profile of the rapist turns out to have some aspects of that of the man who commits aggravated assault and the man who commits robbery. Perhaps this is because the rapist views the victim as a hated person — someone to assault — and as a desired property — something to rob. On a per capita basis the Southwest leads the nation as the homeplace of the rapist.

How do we reduce the incidence of the crime? Why rape?

Engaging these questions generates conflict. Women are told to avoid strangers, dark streets, provocative behavior, and to acquire locks and escorts. If the rules are violated, then the victim may be viewed as inviting or deserving rape.

Potential victims, especially women, find their fears constantly fed by popular literature.

Every woman knows about Jack the Ripper, the Boston Strangler and Richard Speck.

Even if why were answered, we still have the need and desire to decrease the incidence of the crime. In addition, we need to deal helpfully with rape victims. This is where the whole community can respond and do something constructive.

Tuesday night's program on rape, 7:30 until 9:00 p.m. at Georgetown High School, is aimed at dealing with the problem realistically and helpfully.

The Director of the Austin Rape Crisis Center will discuss reasonable preventive measures that strike a balance between enjoyment of freedoms valued by women today and common sense caution. Specific precautions can be taken when walking, driving, or staying at home. Thinking about what to do beforehand can make a crucial difference in handling an attack once it takes place.

There are also definite do's and don'ts for the rape victim when reporting the crime. Evidence should be preserved.

A representative of Austin Police Department's Homicide Division will be on hand on Tuesday to talk about what happens at the police station as well as at the hospital when the victim reports the sexual assault. In addition, the APD spokesman will touch on what the victim may expect when the crime is prosecuted.

Sheriff Bosshard and the Georgetown Police Department have agreed to have representatives on hand at the meeting. People may informally talk with them about Georgetown's procedures and plans for handling rape cases.

The Georgetown Hospital is contemplating initiating

LIBRARY RECEIVES BOOKS ON RAPE — Barbara Pearce and Ann Snell presented 2 recently published books on rape, How to Say No to a Rapist and Survive and Against our Will, to the Georgetown Librarian, Verne Philpot. The books were gifts from the Georgetown Women's Political Caucus. The Caucus is also presenting a community service program on rape, its realities and preventive measures, on Tuesday, November 9, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the High School theater.

procedures for caring for local rape victims — there were four last year and they had to be sent to Brackenridge Hospital in Austin. Members of the medical staff at Georgetown Hospital will be present at Tuesday's meeting. You may want to talk with them.

Our community can no longer dismiss rape as something that happens only in big, bad cities. In light of the fact that rape is a present problem, several local civic groups have joined in an effort to look at the problem of sexual assault and to do what we as a community can do to protect our citizens from attack and to aid those who are attacked.

Come out to share your concern and to get the facts. The program on rape is this Tuesday, November 9, 7:30 until 9:00 p.m. in the Georgetown High School Theater.

Sandefur named to TCA post

David Sandefur, former administrator for the Sweetbriar Nursing Home in Georgetown, is the new administrative assistant to Clinton Kersey, director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. Sandefur has served as a counselor with the Child and Family Service in Austin and as a director of Child Care and Training with the Texas Youth Council.

A Temple native, Sandefur was graduated from Southwestern University with a BA degree in Sociology and later received an MS degree in social work from the University of Texas at Austin. He serves as Director of the Georgetown Optimist Club and is a commissioner for the Georgetown Housing Authority.

"I look forward to my association with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. There can be no doubt that the alcoholism field is indeed a dynamic area of human concern and interest," Sandefur said. "As the single state authority on alcoholism the Texas Commission on Alcoholism has a great task to

SU grad plays at Baylor

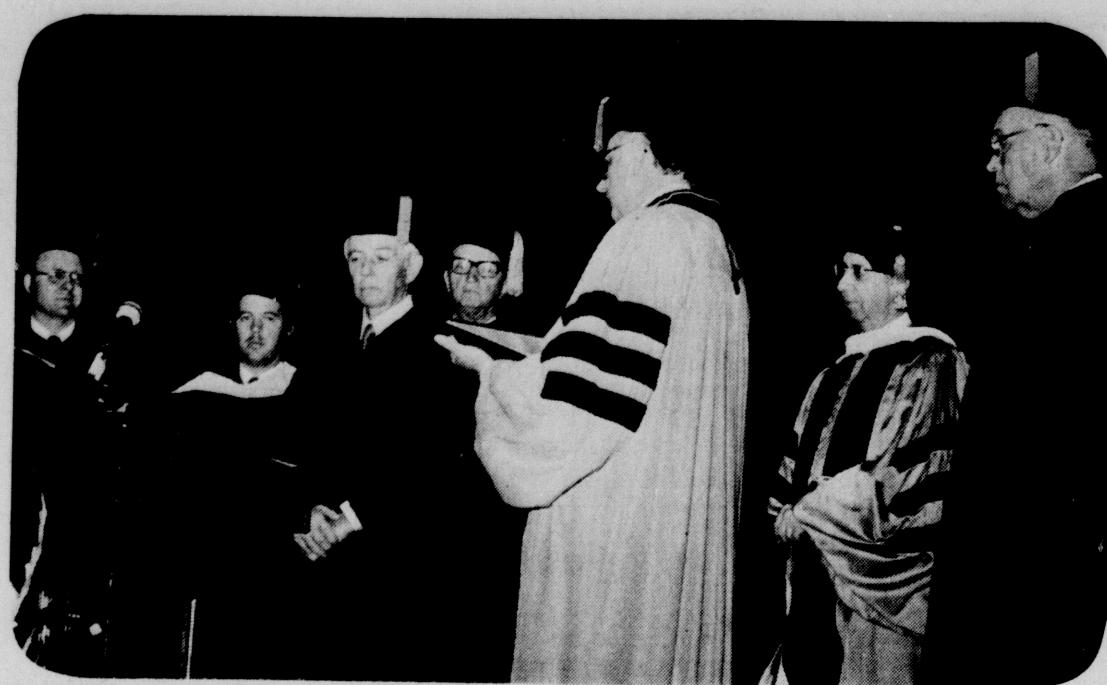

Dane Evans, pianist, will play a faculty recital at Baylor University Thursday, November 11, at 8:15 p.m. in Roxy Grove Hall.

Evans, who joined the Baylor faculty as lecturer in piano in 1975, is a graduate of Southwestern University and Indiana University, where he has also begun work on his doctorate.

The recital program will include "Variations on an Original Theme, Op. 34" by Beethoven; "Rondo Brillante, Op. 62" by Weber; and "Sonata III" by Hindemith. Also, "Theme and Variations, Op. 73" by Faure, "Scenes d'Enfants" by Mompou, and "Transcendental Etudes No. 10 and 11" by Liszt.

The recital is open to the public. Admission is free.

RECEIVING the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Southwestern University October 29 is A. Frank Smith, Jr., who is vice chairman of the university's Board of Trustees and a long time supporter of the school. Assisting with the conferring of the degree are (from left) Dr. William B. Jones, administrative vice president and provost of the University; Dr. Theodore Lucas, dean of the School of Fine Arts; Dr. Smith; Dr. W. McFerrin Stowe, Bishop of the Dallas-Fort Worth area of the United Methodist Church; University President Durwood Fleming; Dr. F. B. Clifford, dean of the Brown College of Arts and Sciences at Southwestern; and Dr. J. Chess Lovern, Bishop of the San Antonio area of the United Methodist Church.

Convocation speakers praise private schools

Three prominent Texans spoke on the place of the private, independent university in higher education this last weekend at Southwestern University.

Dr. Norman Hackerman, president of Rice University, spoke to the President's Council of Southwestern Thursday evening.

AND JUDGE JOE GREENHILL, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, and A. Frank Smith, Jr., noted Houston attorney, both spoke at Convocation ceremonies Friday where Smith received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Hackerman, who served as president of the University of Texas at Austin before becoming president at Rice in 1970, reviewed what small, private universities could do compared with the large public universities.

Hackerman said that public universities had grown larger because of the necessity "to coordinate, to systematize and to increase cost effectiveness."

HE COMPARED the organized fiscal operation of a university with the learning process, which he called "not organized — they each do it their own way."

In the large university systems, Hackerman said, the "structure inevitably grows, and as it grows it will ultimately swallow up the unstructured, disorganized learning arrangements."

He quoted Mark Twain, "You learn by having a teacher on one end of a log and the student on the other end." The more students per teacher, the less opportunity for learning, Hackerman said.

BECAUSE the smaller private university can provide more learning opportunity, according to Hackerman, the independent sector of higher education is stronger at this time than it has been in the last 20 years.

Hackerman told of the recent history of higher education and how public institutions had grown since 1950. Now about 80 percent of Texas high school graduates go to public colleges and universities, and about 20 percent to private, independent institutions.

This percentage has held steady in recent years, Hackerman said. "These institutions in the independent sector are by-and-large sound and effective," he said.

"Interest in the independent school has been re-aroused among those whose concern it is to use the public treasury to ways best suited for public function."

USING what he called a "pragmatic approach," Hackerman said, "If it is accepted that a bachelor-degreed person is of value to the state, then what difference does it make where that bachelor's degree comes from?"

"If the bachelor's degree comes from Southwestern University rather than from the University of Texas at Dallas, then the state has acquired a unit for nothing, hasn't paid a cent for it, whereas the one out of Dallas cost the public $1,800."

Hackerman said that while the private schools of Texas got only 20 percent of the students, they furnished 28 percent of the college graduates last year in the state.

HE ALSO pointed out the growing pressure for private giving to support public institutions.

"Last year public institutions acquired $1.8 billion from such giving while private schools received $1.4 billion."

Hackerman concluded by saying that the contribution of private schools "is more than providing choice, more than providing flexibility, more than providing self governance — it actually is gainful for the state."

CHIEF JUSTICE GREENHILL, speaking the next day at Southwestern's Convocation, applauded the efforts of such as A. Frank Smith for leadership in keeping private education strong.

Judge Greenhill traced the history of higher education in Texas to its earliest days.

"If a monopolistic, self-controlled system of private education as we had under Mexico was undesirable to our Texan forefathers, it seems equally obvious that it is undesirable that there be a monopoly of public higher education now or in the future, or that the state have complete dominance in the field of higher education," he said.

The chief justice said he was not suggesting that the state was going to abolish or take over private education.

BUT THE DANGER which I'm sure is obvious is that because of economic pressures many institutions of private learning have been in trouble, many still are, and some have had to close their doors."

Greenhill talked of the impact of inflation on operational costs and of recession on endowment and investments of private schools. And he also emphasized the financial service to taxpayers.

"It comes through loud and clear that the private institutions are doing the taxpayers of Texas a great service. These private institutions are not only deserving of our support for the good they are doing in their own ways, but for what they are saving the public," he said.

TOUCHING ON public support of private schools, Greenhill told of what the Texas Legislature had done with the Tuition Equalization Grants program started in 1971 that provides students attending private schools as much as $600 a year based on need as long as that is not used in a theological or religious degree program.

He cited a U. S. Supreme Court ruling in June (concerning Maryland schools) and said that "hurdles have been factually and legally cleared that there were no excessive governmental entanglements with religion, nor political entanglements between church and state."

Pointing to private, independent education an important part of a democratic way of life, Justice Greenhill said:

"PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS serve a vital role in higher education in this country because they are a check and a balance to a sometimes overwhelming governmental presence in higher education."

"Private education is essential as a counterweight of what might otherwise too easily become what we see almost everywhere else in the world — a system of higher education which is a tool of the state."

The man honored at the Convocation, A. Frank Smith, Jr., used examples of Southwestern University to demonstrate why he believed "an institution of higher education in this country."

SPEAKING at a luncheon before the Convocation, the Houston attorney re-emphasized that while only 20 percent of Texas students went to private colleges, "the education that the 20 percent get is unsurpassed."

Smith said that the student-faculty ratio at Southwestern was 12 to one. "In larger institutions it will be 25, 35, even 45 to one."

"Our classes here will have from 15 to 25 students in them," he said, while larger institutions "will sometimes have 300 to 400."

IN SOUTHWESTERN'S music department students are taught by the concert pianist we just heard (Drusilla Huffman) at a larger institution they will be taught by a student assistant, in all likelihood.

"In Southwestern's science laboratories we have equipment that our students use on a day-to-day basis that in the larger institutions are available only to graduate students."

Such advantages of the small school add up to what Smith called "a superior, educated student."

SMITH GAVE examples of such students, again using Southwestern.

"In Southwestern's science dept. this past year every student applying to a graduate school was admitted."

Nine of 10 applicants to law schools were admitted.

There were from various medical schools this year graduated five Southwestern alumni. Four of those five were number one or two in their classes at those medical schools.

"Eighty per cent of the class of 1975, in a time of tight employment, secured employment in their own chosen fields."

SMITH CONCLUDED with an example of Southwestern's accounting program:

"There are two national accounting exams given each year, one to first year students and one to second year students. This year Southwestern's first year group had 41 percent in the top 10 percent of the nation while the second year group had half of the class in the top 10 percent."

"The median grade in accounting on these examinations of both the first and second year

Fruit sold to fund athletes

The Eagle all-sports Boosters Club have plans for a big fresh fruit sale. Don Hewlett (chairman), Charles Satterfield, Al Cummins and Ray Mikan are heading this fund raising drive and they ask all parents and friends to become involved.

Order blanks are available for the purchase of 40 pound boxes of grapefruit or oranges at $7.00 each and 20 pound boxes of this fresh valley fruit at $4.00 each.

Area businesses might consider buying fruit for employee Christmas gifts.

Some of the priorities and needs of the Georgetown athletic program will be discussed at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Field House. Parents and friends of Georgetown Eagle athletes are urged to attend.

Football Banquet plans will also be discussed at this meeting.

Judy Birch is a winner

She's A Winner! Nov. 3 Miss Judy Birch of Georgetown received her second seal for 300 volunteer hours at the Wesleyan Home.

This gives Judy 1,100 volunteer hours, according to Mrs. S. Wayne Reynolds, Activity Director.

Miss Birch has received such awards as $100.00 from Piggly Wiggly on Aug. 23, 1976, an 8-track Stereo Tape Player from TG&Y on Sept. 1, 1975, a 500 Volunteer Hour Certificate on Oct. 16, 1976 from the Wesleyan Home and now a 300 Volunteer Hour Seal from Wesleyan Home on July 22, 1976.

As you can see she's a real winner.

Winterrowd to perform for TMEA meeting

Jack C. Winterrowd Jr., son of Jack and Shirley Winterrowd of Thrall, is a participant this year in Texas A&M's up-and-coming University Symphonic Band.

Slated as guest band for the Texas Music Educators Association convention in February, the 72-member organization is directed by Joe K. McMullen.

The TMEA guest band invitation is a coveted honor among the state's bands. It came for the Texas A&M symphonic band during its third year of existence. The convention of band and choir directors and music teachers is planned for San Antonio.

Membership embraces all parts of the Texas A&M campus. The symphonic band has graduate and undergraduate students, faculty and personnel, with 34 women members. Many of the musicians have earned statewide recognition for ability, a number studied music before transferring to Texas A&M and some also march in the Texas Aggie Band.

Women's Concert Choir performs at St. John's

The Women's Concert Choir of the University of Texas will be performing in the 10:50 a.m. service at St. John's United Methodist Church on Sunday, November 7.

The 39-voice choir directed by Ann S. Bunyan, will present the following sacred selections: Ave Maria from Triptych, Vum Vi Ve Vo, The Place of the Bless, the Carol of the Rose and the Alleluia Choruses.

The Choir will also perform in Taylor at St. James' Episcopal Church at 5 p.m.

At the Taylor performance the group will present an expanded program including both sacred and popular music.

The public is invited free of charge.

accounting students was the highest of any school in the nation," Smith said.

"Put good students with excellent faculty and give them individual attention and this is the result, Smith concluded. "This is what the private, liberal arts, small university does for higher education in America."

Council eyes $228,000 grant, Lone Star rate hike request

Georgetown's City Council will hold a final hearing on recommendations for use of the city's $228,000 Community Development Block Grant at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Council Chamber at City Hall, then consider Lone Star Gas Company's request for a rate increase during its regular meeting afterward.

The city planning staff has submitted four project proposals for Community Development funding, which is dispersed by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The list includes: drainage and street improvements in the San Jose Street area of southeast Georgetown (estimated cost $75,000); acquisition of property for a sanitary landfill ($50,000); improvement of drainate facilities along Forest Street ($25,000); and continuation of work to extend a 16-inch water main from the raw water intake structure at the North Fork Lake site to the site of a future water treatment plant ($29,200).

THE PLAN also calls for $48,400 to cover engineering and salary costs and to provide for contingencies.

Preliminary approval of the city staff's plan has already been voiced by the Citizens Advisory Commission.

Should it gain final approval from the Advisory Commission, the city's Planning and Zoning Commission, and the City Council on Tuesday, the list of proposed projects would be submitted to HUD for consideration by February 4.

THE CITY hopes for funding of the 1977 CD program by April 21.

Lone Star Gas Company last month filed a request for a rate increase which would provide the company an eight percent annual rate of return in Georgetown. Lone Star estimates the requested increase would hike the average residential customer's natural gas bill by about $1.97 per month.

The company's Georgetown manager, B. B. "Bill" Smith said when he filed the request that it was necessitated by increased costs of operation due mainly to inflation and unrecovered costs of the gas Lone Star purchases. Smith said the company needs $76,784 to cover a revenue deficiency.

ALSO SCHEDULED FOR consideration by the Council Tuesday night are:

- Bids for a two-year lease of 77 acres of city-owned land near San Gabriel Park in northeast Georgetown.

- A requested rezoning at 1599 Williams Drive

- The city's amusements regulation ordinance.

- Advertisement for bids on extension of the low-water crossing in San Gabriel Park.

- The fuel adjustment rate to be added to the city's December electricity bills.

Swine flu clinics getting under way

Flu shots will be available for the first time this weekend from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 6, and Sunday, Nov. 7.

Clinics to dispense the vaccine will be held at the courthouse in Georgetown and at locations in Granger, Leander, Round Rock, Taylor and Jarrell.

THE COUNTY HAS RECEIVED only 10,500 doses of the vaccine, therefore, shots will be given on a first-come, first-serve basis until supplies are exhausted.

Persons between 18 and 65 will receive the monovalent serum, which only protects against the Swine Flu virus. Those 65 and over, as well as those with chronic illness, will receive the bivalent vaccine to protect against all types of influenza.

The only children who may receive the vaccine this weekend are those with chronic diseases.

IMMUNIZATIONS ARE FREE and persons receiving the vaccinations need not be Williamson county residents.

Persons attending the Georgetown clinic should enter the courthouse from the south, west and north doors.

In Leander, the Leander High School Cafeteria will be the site of the two-day clinic. Round Rock area residents should go to the Community Room in the library. Taylor citizens should go to the Taylor High School.

The Saturday clinic in Granger will be at the St. Cyril School. The Sunday clinic will be held in Jarrell at the Woodman of the World Hall.

Week's news in a nutshell

A 100 year old Round Rock house tied closely to the history of this county will become the home of the Round Rock Chamber of Commerce as soon as the residence can be moved to a downtown location. The house was given to the Chamber by its present owners, Miss Mary Palm and Mrs. Margurite Palm Stockman, both of whom were born in the house.

SWINE FLU VACCINE is flowing into the county now at a rapid rate and shots are being given to hundreds of Williamson countians this weekend. A Georgetown clinic is in operation at the courthouse Sunday, from noon to 4 p.m. Other clinics will be open the same hours in Round Rock, Leander, Jarrell, Granger and Taylor. Approximately 10,000 doses of the vaccine have been received to date.

Round Rock is over the top in its United Way drive.

A CONFERENCE IN SWITZERLAND TO SOLVE the Rhodesian deadlock has broken down and Prime Minister Ian Smith is talking tough.

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Our Georgetown Community Theater people feel they have found a home at Jonah, where they are now staging their shows. They use the old schoolhouse, just off the highway, and it's fine for their performances.

JONAH IS SAID to be in the very center of Williamson County and as such would be an ideal location for a Williamson County Theater organization. What's wrong in working toward that goal?

A robust county-wide organization could have a lot of fun, put on great performances and entertain many people.

I am still impressed by what our Georgetown voters did in the Associate Justice, Supreme Court race. Write-in candidate Sam Houston won in two of our three boxes and actually carried the city, 1374 to 1309. Only one other box in the county went to Houston, tiny Gravis gave him 22 votes to 9. The Circleville vote was tied, 18 to 18. Yarbrough, who faces disbarment proceedings by the State Bar of Texas, easily won over two write-in candidates, Sam Houston of Denton and Tom Lorange of Houston.

The vote here is proof-positive that our people learn the facts as best they can before they journey to the polls.

GEORGETOWN OUTVOTED Taylor again, 3,747 to 3,109 in the presidential contest. By far, the largest single box in the county belongs to Round Rock which registered 2,419 ballots. Second biggest was Pond Springs, with 2038 votes. That gives you an idea, if you haven't already had it, how that southwest end of the county is exploding.

Assessor-collector Bill Buck was happy to have the honor of leading the ticket in the county. He had 13,045, heading off Sheriff Bosshard, Bill Lott and the other unopposed Democratic candidates at the pass. Winning this race is always a source of pleasure and pride to our county candidates. Jack Gillum nearly always led during his tenure. Sheriff Henry Matyssek and County Clerk Dick Cervenka are also past winners.

FUNNY HOW VALUES and ideas change. A few years ago Senator Edward Muskie, confronted with newspaper articles he knew were false and damaging, wept. The attitude of the press, accepted by the public, was that his weeping indicated a basic weakness. He was doomed. This week, however, we witnessed President Ford and President-elect Jimmy Carter shedding tears and none of us felt they were weak or silly. Truth is, some of us carry our emotions closer to the surface than others. I expect the strongest men in the history of civilization have shed tears of joy or frustration.

Most will stay open Vets' Day

Financial institutions and Williamson County offices in Georgetown will be closed this Thursday, November 11, in observance of Veteran's Day.

State and federal offices, including the Georgetown Post Office, will be open, providing regular services. Georgetown City Hall and the various city offices will also be open; city garbage collections will be made at the usual times on the usual routes.

The Georgetown Chamber of Commerce will also be open Thursday. Since the day is not an official Chamber Holiday, most local businesses will also be open.

THE GEORGETOWN OFFICE of Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities, Inc. will be open.

M Sgt. Ben D. Snowden Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 8587 will sponsor its annual free breakfast for all veterans on Thursday at the Post Home on College Street, across from Georgetown's San Gabriel Park.

Serving for the veterans' breakfast will begin at 5:30 a.m.

Guest speaker will be Timothy G. Marech, Georgetown Municipal Court Judge, who holds the rank of Lt. Col. in the U. S. Marine Reserve and is a member of the Fred L. Stanley Post of the American Legion.

Votes to be canvassed Tuesday

The Williamson County Commissioners' Court will examine the returns of the November 2 General Election in detail when they meet at 10 a.m. November 8.

Another important item on the agenda for the Monday meeting is the consideration of budgeting expenditures for Emergency Medical Services.

County fathers will hear reports on property sale, road maintenance, and preliminary hearings on three developments.

They will also consider appointments on the Child Welfare Board and review the budget for that agency.

Approving the appointment of Temporary Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Ora Nell Harkins and approving bond, are other items on the agenda.

Kubiak favors upping state share of school bill

Dan Kubiak, State Representative for the 36th legislative district, talked about school finance, the Foundation School Program and local control of schools, when he addressed the Georgetown chapter of the Texas State Teachers' Association (TSTA) last Wednesday afternoon.

Governor Dolph Briscoe recently presented proposals for 90 percent state funding of the Foundation School Program, the program which pays for the minimum requirements for public education. Kubiak told the educators that the Governor's recommendations were similar to proposals he made himself during the last legislative session.

With 90 percent state funding, the local districts would only be required to tax for the remaining 10 percent of the Foundation School Program, saving the district about $150,000, according to Jerry Graham, Business Manager for the Georgetown school system.

Representative Kubiak says that Georgetown is now paying 40 percent and the State is paying 60 percent of this basic program. "It would definitely help here," he asserted.

EDUCATIONAL FUNDING is divided into two sections: the Foundation School Program, providing minimum requirements; and educational enrichment, providing anything over the minimum.

Kubiak said, . . . "Currently the state actually pays for 45 percent of local education, the local district pays 48 percent, and seven percent is paid by the federal government. I would personally like to see the State take over the federal part. The state should pay for the Foundation (School Program) and let the local school pay for enrichment."

Does more state funding mean more state control? According to Mr. Kubiak, "No! The local district will have more control."

In this new program, the Legislature would analyze the requirements and decide what should be included in the basic curriculum for the Foundation School. The rest (selecting enrichment programs, administration, etc.) would be left up to the local districts.

MR. KUBIAK IS A MEMBER of the House Special Committee on Alternatives for Public School Finance, which voted unanimously to recommend 100 percent state funding — compared to Briscoe's 90 percent — with a ceiling on the degree local districts can enrich their programs.

Asked if he planned to present such a proposal to the 65th Session of the Legislature, Kubiak said he did. He does not expect to get such a proposal passed, however.

New plan could save GISD $167,000

If passed by the next session of the legislature, Governor Briscoe's proposals for 90 percent state funding of public schools could lower Georgetown's Local Fund Assignment by as much as $167,100 from the 1976-76 school year.

According to figures supplied by the Governor's Office of Educational Research, the total cost for the Foundation School Program for 1977-78, providing the basic educational requirements, would be $1,634,600.

The local share of the program costs would be $152,000 (roughly 10 percent).

THE STATE WOULD PAY $1,476,500 for the Foundation School Program and $90,900 for State Equalization Aid, bringing the total state aid to $1,567,400.

This is an increase in state aid of $218,400 and a decrease in local contribution of $167,100 over the 1976-76 totals.

In his school finance message, presented last Monday, the Governor also recommended placing a ceiling on taxation in each school district of $1 per $100 of property valuation.

A POLICEMAN'S PARTING SHOT

The police chief of Providence, R.I., Walter McQueeney, is retiring.

A 35-year-veteran of law enforcement leadership, one of his last official acts was to address graduates of the Police Training Academy at Bristol Community College in Massachusetts.

HE TOLD THEM to behave themselves.

Chief McQueeney said, "Americans, by tradition, are inherently suspicious of police power and a single encounter with a discourteous or abusive policeman serves only to reinforce that distrust."

He admonished the policemen-to-be to learn their own strengths, their own weaknesses, to keep themselves open to progress and even to the inevitable change which is not always progress.

He asked the recruits never to become cynical and hardened by the sight of misery.

HE TOLD THEM all the right things and then he told them how he really felt.

Providence Police Chief McQueeney says he is retiring "a sick man."

"I'm sick of seeing cops caricatured by television's 'Car 54' crew as inept incompetents."

"I'm sick of such movies as 'Dog Day Afternoon' portraying policemen as red-faced, loud-mouthed fat slob."

"I'm a sick man," said the chief. "Sick of watching newspapers make folk heroes of co-killers. I'm sick of hearing cops called pigs by punks who never work, vote or take a bath."

"And I'm sick of movies which promote and incite all the violence and violence which make the lawman's tough job tougher."

"I'm sick about Supreme Court decisions which protect the rights of lawless men at the expense of those who obey laws."

"And of those who, in the name of 'rights,' expect to get away with every 'wrong' known to God and man."

"To hell with the Civil Liberties Union," says the chief, "until such time as that outfit stops promoting just the rights of wrongdoers."

"And the very idea," says retiring Chief McQueeney, "that even an imaginary push from a policeman can result in accusations, suspension pending investigation and headlined allegations of 'brutality'."

UNTIL THE POLICEMAN goes down bleeding, brained or blinded, and nobody gets punished because the rotters won't fink and nice people don't want to get involved.

So the nice people lock themselves up while their outdoors is taken over by killers, robbers, rapists and junkies.

"Maybe someday this will turn around," the chief told the police cadets. "Meanwhile about all you can do to turn it around is to keep your nose clean, hold your head high and hang in there!" Spend, spend, spend?

There will be nothing to keep the Democrats from spending all the public money they want to spend after the first of this year.

DEMOCRATS HAVE long been tagged as "big spenders," perhaps rightly. At any rate, they will have the opportunity to prove or disprove the charge pretty soon.

The Democrats will have a president. They will also have 2 to 1 control of the House of Representatives and a clear majority in the Senate. There will be no one to veto their bills.

This could provide an interesting plot. In days gone by the Democratic Congress could pass bills giving vast and costly benefits to voters they wanted to impress, knowing that President Nixon or President Ford would veto the destructive bills.

Now the bills might be expected to sail right past President Carter without even a threat of veto. Will this make the Congress more thoughtful, more responsible? We'll have to wait a while to find out.

ACTUALLY, JIMMY CARTER may not be a rubber stamp at all. He might veto more bills passed by his fellow Democrats than Ford did.

Right now there is much we don't know about Mr. Carter. We'll be learning, however, and let's hope the knowledge gained will come as a pleasant experience. Jimmy Carter has the opportunity to do great things for America. We aren't gainsaying him a moment. We think he can if we all help, and this 2 by 4 family weekly proposes to do its small part.

Plains party line peppy

'Lord o' mercy. Wasn't that something last night?'

Editor's Note: The Jimmy Carter family of Plains, Georgia, especially his mother, "Miss" Lillian, are real characters. A staff writer of the Dallas Morning News had the following story in the Thursday issue of that newspaper. We thought our readers would enjoy it:

By MARYLN SCHWARTZ

PLAINS, Ga. — President-elect Jimmy Carter wanted to rest Wednesday. His staff announced there would be no news conferences and no news releases.

So, if you wanted to find out anything you had to depend on the Plains party line.

That means you ask Miss Ida, who asks Miss Allie, who calls Miss Lillian directly.

As usual, the Plains party line was way ahead of the television networks.

"MISS LILLIAN says she'll talk to you directly," said Miss Allie Smith, Rosalynn Carter's mother. She handed over the telephone.

"Lord o' mercy," said Miss Lillian Carter, the president-elect's mother. "Wasn't that something last night? Do you know the entire town stayed up all night? When Jimmy came in and saw everybody waiting out there in the cold, he broke down and cried."

"In 22 months of hard campaigning, he didn't cry once. But coming home and seeing his friends in Plains, he cried. He said 'Mama, that's really something.'"

"I didn't think being holed up in a hotel room in Atlanta all night, Jimmy could possibly know just how peppy things got here Tuesday night."

"The elementary school mothers never made more than $50 selling any thing in the whole history of the school. I said 'Jimmy, they're going to name the school after you.'"

"I ALSO SAID I thought the next time they ought to sell hotdogs; they'd even make more money."

Miss Lillian said she had to go. She said she had to cook extra food for all the nice Secret Service men in the house. But she said maybe the press should go and talk to her younger son, Billy. She said sometimes people forget a younger brother, when the older brother has just been elected President of the United States.

Miss Lillian said to stop by Cousin Hugh Carter's antique shop. He would know where to locate Billy. Cousin Hugh called Miss Allie, who called Billy. He was down the street at the peanut warehouse.

Billy Carter said he didn't have to talk by telephone. He was still giving out interviews in person. But he said please talk softly, because he still had a hangover. He was up all night celebrating, too.

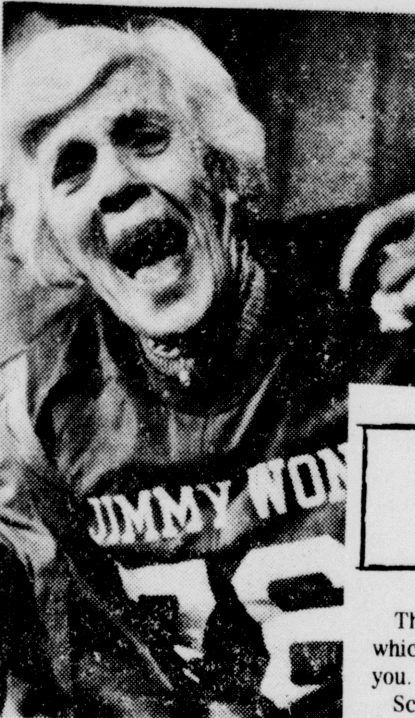

"People keep thinking all of this is going to make me feel bad," said Billy. "You know, because I'm not a politician like Jimmy. But I don't want to be. I'm just Billy. I'm content to stay home and look after the warehouse and my filling station, and I'll tell you one thing this is sure good for my filling station business."

BILLY SAID HE stayed home in Plains with his mother on election night.

"We stayed here because it was more fun. Rosalynn's mother wanted to stay in Plains, too, but she didn't want to hurt Rosalynn's feelings, so she went to Atlanta. But she kept calling us all night wanting to know what was going on in Plains."

Miss Allie Smith admitted the same thing happened to her when she went to the Democratic National Convention in New York.

COW POKES

By Ace Reid

"Womens Lib er no Womens Lib—I'm a cowboy—not a cowperson!!"

AUSTIN — Texas legislators will be heading back to Austin next January for another historic session.

One of their priority items — public school finance — already has been laid out for study and opinion sizeups.

A House sub-committee submitted a $1 billion plan for the state to assume 100 per cent of school costs. Gov. Briscoe unveiled his long-awaited 1977 school finance proposals, together with cost estimates and district ability to pay data, this week.

Fortunately, lawmakers will have another windfall surplus estimated at from $2 billion to $3 billion.

They can afford a school plan and still have cash left over, but inflation and increasing demands of state agencies will make budget-making as difficult a task as ever.

Legislators, apparently, are in an economy-first frame of mind. Certainly, state leaders — including

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton — are.

Briscoe, Hobby, Clayton, Comptroller Bob Bullock and others will offer their assessments of the 1977 session and its problems at Texas Press Association's legislative briefing at the Hilton Inn in Austin November 5.

Unemployment Drops

The jobless rate in Texas dipped slightly to 5.4 per cent in September, representing the third straight month of decline, according to Texas Employment Commission.

In August, the rate was 5.5 per cent and in July 5.8 per cent.

TEC Chairman Harold Dudley said the Texas rate is well below the national level of 7.4 per cent for September.

"This pattern of decline is traditional for the season," Dudley said. "The fact that monthly unemployment rates are following seasonal trends indicates we can remain optimistic about Texas' future."

Rates vary widely by areas.

Air Service Recommended

A Texas Aeronautics Commission hearing examiner has recommended approval of Southwest Airlines' application to add Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock and Midland/Odessa to its system.

Examiner John G. Soule's recommendation will go to the commission which has a tentative meeting date set for December 1.

Southwest now offers economy air service between Dallas, Harlingen, Houston and San Antonio.

If new routes are approved, non-stop service will be added to the following city-pair markets: Austin-Corpus Christi; Austin-Dallas; Austin-Harlingen; Corpus Christi-Houston; Dallas-Lubbock; Dallas-Midland/Odessa; El Paso-Midland/Odessa and

El Paso-Lubbock.

Soule said the service would save passengers an average of 34 per cent compared to local service and trunk carrier fares over the same or comparable routes.

AG Opinion

A city governing body may spend public funds to defend an elected city official or employee sued in official and individual capacities if the suit involves an action within his scope of authority in the public interest, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

The Terry County commissioners court is not required to have an annual independent audit of tax assessor's records, although it may call for one when the public interest would be served.

Imported beef cannot be purchased for governmental purposes.

Legal rate of interest to judgment in an eminent domain case is six per cent a year prior to Sept. 1, 1975, and nine per cent thereafter.

The Structural Pest Control Board may not issue a pest control business license or renew one if the amount of property damage liability coverage by the applicant is less than $30,000.

Funds Redistributed

Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retar-

dation approved redistribution of $4.1 million in unused funds to its facilities.

Money comes from unexpended balances in construction and operating funds during the 12-month period which ended last August 31.

Money goes to facilities in Austin, Big Spring, Kerrville, Rusk, San Antonio, Terrell, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Brenham, Corpus Christi, Denton, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Lufkin, Leander, Mexia, Richmond, San Angelo, Harlingen, Amarillo, Beaumont, El Paso and Houston.

Mattresses were replaced throughout the TDMHMR system in the redistribution due to a recent fire in which a patient was fatally injured. New mattresses will contain borax-treated cotton rather than highly-flammable man-made fibers.

Courts Speak

Millionaire Tommy Manville's ninth wife, who accepted $31,871 on a suit over a screenplay, cannot appeal for more, the State Supreme Court held.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a 20-year sentence given a Dallas man for threatening a woman with a faulty B.B. gun.

The court upheld the death penalty for a Harrison County man in a 1973 shooting.

It reversed a Dallas

He said, however, that while the signs look impressive, he can't really do anything about violations.

"Plains doesn't have a towing company, so I couldn't have them towed away if I wanted to. But I'm in charge, and I have to look firm. That's why I keep those signs up like that."

Suddenly, someone laughed and stuck her head around the door. It was Miss Lillian. She said she had to come downtown and see what was going on.

She was still wearing a green football jersey with a '76 on it and that said "Jimmy Won."

"I HAD THESE made up special for election night," said Miss Lillian. "We passed them out to all the campaign workers in Plains who were on Jimmy's team during the last 22 months. We wore them under our coats and when they announced Jimmy had gone over, we threw off our coats and showed our jerseys."

Miss Lillian said she was the first to show her jersey.

"Those networks got a little scared when I started taking off my clothes, but they liked that jersey. I told them I bet I'm the first mother of a President of the United States who ever did a strip tease on network television."

What 'Jaws' didn't tell you

By David F. Salisbury

There are many things about sharks which the best seller "Jaws" never told you.

Scientists attempting to demystify sharks have found that they:

- Are as easy to train as many mammals.
- Have a subtle but clear social organization.
- Can detect an odor up to a quarter of a mile away.
- Have keen senses of hearing and eyesight.
- Are the most sensitive known animal to electric current.

These are probably just a few of the curious traits which these 300-million-year-old creatures possess. For, according to Arthur A. Myrberg Jr. of the University of Miami, sharks remain the last "large group of animals, commonly known to man, which have consistently evaded his attempts to gather direct behavioral information."

The reason for this, he says, is that scientists have been reluctant to risk their lives to study the activity of sharks in open waters. Still, research on small and harmless varieties of these "monsters of the deep" is revealing an increasing amount of information. Besides its value for basic science, the experts hope that continuing study will lead to ways to minimize the danger sharks now represent.

There are somewhere between 200 and 350 species of shark roaming the world's oceans. In size, sharks range from the midget midwater shark, only 8 inches long, to the whale shark, which grows to more than 45 feet. They vary in shape from eel-like, to skate-like, to the sleek torpedo shape with jutting dorsal fin, vividly pictured in "Jaws." But only 30 species are dangerous to people, says Cornell Prof. Perry Gilbert, director of the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, Florida.

Although Dr. Gilbert acknowledges that the jaws of living sharks are as mighty as those portrayed in the movie "Jaws," he notes that the risk of being struck by lightning is eight times greater than that of being attacked by a shark while swimming in the ocean.

It has commonly been believed that sharks are slow learners. But, according to Dr. Myrberg, recent work has demonstrated that young lemon and nurse sharks can be trained fairly easily and remember tasks for a long period of time. Other experiments have proven that sharks learn to ignore noises when they discover the sounds are irrelevant. This could influence the effectiveness of many shark protection schemes, he notes.

Some of Dr. Myrberg's own research suggests that shark colonies have a clear social organization, despite the fact that they are notorious for their individuality. This is based on a "straight-line, size-dependent hierarchy," he says, "in which females are clearly cautious of males."

The best-known aspects of shark behavior are their ability to see, hear, smell, and to sense electric current, the experts say.

At Mote Laboratory work has been done on the sensing ability of lemon sharks. According to Dr. Gilbert these sharks have detected small fluid samples of tuna released 75 feet up-current. And another scientist has found that a different species of shark can smell the difference between water that has held healthy, free-living fish and that which held fish disturbed by having their container shaken.

Dr. Gilbert and his colleagues are finding shark vision particularly interesting. They can see their prey up to 50 feet away. Their eyes adjust much more quickly to the dark than do human eyes. And they can see in ocean depths too dark for human vision.

But even deprived of its sight and smell, the shark can sense the presence of its prey by nerves that extend along its flanks. In the low-frequency range the shark's hearing is "many times better than that of man," says Dr. Myrberg.

As if this were not enough, the shark has an extremely sensitive electric sense. Dr. Myrberg says this is used for locating prey hidden under the sand. But such sensitivity also raises the possibility that these creatures may navigate and avoid obstacles by sensing changes in the earth's magnetic field, he says.

County marijuana conviction.

Sales Up

Comptroller Bob Bullock reported a total of $33.9 billion in gross retail sales in Texas during the second quarter of 1976, a 17 per cent jump over the same period last year.

Bullock said the growth exceeds all estimates of inflation and demonstrates an improving Texas economy. The analysis showed $31.5 billion in sales by Texas firms and $2.4 billion by out-of-state firms. Harris County sales increased 11 per cent to $8.2 billion and Dallas County sales by 16 per cent to $5 billion.

Short Snorts

Operating standards of state and local government pension plans in Texas may come under federal regulation.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is withholding $845,000 in grants to Texas Department of Corrections, on grounds the prison system hasn't produced an acceptable plan for hiring more minority group members.

House Administration Committee Chairman Pete Laney of Hale Center has asked an attorney general's opinion on whether the press should have free office space in the state capitol.

Georgetown, Texas
Sunday, November 7, 1976

Georgetown Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., the city's newest automobile dealership, has opened for business just east of the intersection of Interstate Highway 35 and FM 2243 (the Leander highway).

Owners L. H. "Russ" Rausal (also president and general manager of the firm) and Clinton J. Thompson say Georgetown Chrysler-Plymouth will offer the latest in Chrysler-Plymouth cars and Dodge trucks, plus full service with top-line equipment.

BOTH RAUSAL, who has worked in the automobile field at both the factory and retail sales levels for 30 years, and Thompson, who has over 40 years experience in the business, intend to make their homes in Georgetown.

Their staff is composed of other Georgetown-area residents, including Mrs. Sylvia Burgin, office manager; George Williams, maintenance man; and Randy Light and Anthony Lincoln, mechanics. Light and Lincoln represented

IN OPERATION a little over a month now, the new company hopes to hold a formal grand opening sometime within the next 60 days.

"We'll be offering all mechanical, maintenance, and repair work, as well as sales," said Rausal. "We've bought all the latest motor analyzing equipment available to serve our customers."

And concerning prices, Rausal noted, "We realize we'll have to be highly competitive with one and all."

Angeley named Jr. Rotarian

Jarvis Angeley, son of Mrs. Kenneth D. Jenkins, has been selected Junior Rotarian for the month of November by the Georgetown Rotary Club.

Jarvis is a senior at Georgetown High School. He has been a member of the F.F.A. since his freshman year, played football and ran track his sophomore year, and was selected to the National Honor Society his junior year.

Harvis entered U.I.L. science and journalism events for the past 3 years and plans to enter in journalism again this year. He was given the Letter G Award in science his freshman year and placed sixth in District for headline writing last year.

Angeley is also a member of the Annual Staff.

JARVIS ANGELEY
Jarvis has applied for admission into Texas A&M and Air Force ROTC. He plans to major in electrical engineering and earn a commission in the Air Force.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — Now that we know what Texas voters said Tuesday, just what did they mean?

For one thing, it means they didn't pay any attention to the predictions that apathy would be high. Or maybe it means they did — and so they turned out thinking their vote would be even more crucial to their candidate.

IT ALL DEPENDS, of course, on your point of view. It does appear that Texas voters are pretty well satisfied with the sort of leadership they've been getting.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe got out and stumped the state for Jimmy Carter, and Jimmy Carter carried Texas. Maybe it means Briscoe "won" Texas for Carter. Or that they really trusted Briscoe. Or they just didn't trust Jerry Ford.

But probably it's a tribute to Briscoe's standing with the electorate, a regard Briscoe has fostered through his no-new-taxes, trim-the-size-of-government regime.

Briscoe seems to feel that it indicates his stock is high enough for him to cash in for a second four-year term.

Texans also indicated satisfaction with Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., sending him back to Washington for another six years.

AND VOTERS INDICATED approval of the way members of the Congressional delegation have been functioning, sending the incumbents back Potomac-way, with the exception of short-term incumbent Ron Paul, edged in a Houston squeaker by former State Sen. Bob Gammage.

Members of the State Senate fared well, too, as did incumbent House members.

All in all, it looks as if the 1977 Legislature will have much the same look as the 1975 Legislature, with both sides of the rotunda having a middle-of-the-road conservative look. (The party affiliation of the Senate remains at 28 Democrats and three Republicans, while the GOP picked up a net two seats on the House side — for 18 out of 150).

Voters also said they didn't want to allow another $400,000,000 in water development bonds — but did want another $100,000,000 in water quality enhancement bonds.

MAYBE THAT MEANS Texans feel like there's plenty of water — but it's just not clean enough.

Or maybe they thought $400,000,000 was too much. Or that the program was too expensive. Or that it hadn't been proved necessary. Or they just didn't trust the Water Development Board. Or they just didn't understand the amendment. Again, it depends on who you ask.

One explanation for the apparent apathy which had worried some politicians, pollsters and reporters seem to be that voters were ready to vote, and were just tired of all the campaigning.

One thing that does seem certain about Tuesday's vote is that it shows voters in Texas, and in the rest of the nation, do care, and are concerned, about what's going on in their government.

Comments from voters leaving the polls indicated that restoring trust in government, more than economy, foreign policy or other issues, was the thing on their minds.

THAT'S A CHEERING NOTE for the start of the United States' third century of independence.

Democracy, as Winston Churchill once remarked, is the worst form of government known to man — except for all the others.

Maybe that's the message in Tuesday's vote.

SU hosts college student leaders

More than 100 student leaders from colleges and universities across the state are attending the Texas Student Association's fall convention at Southwestern University this weekend.

A full schedule of workshops, seminars and lectures began Friday morning and continued through Saturday, while a legislative session of TSA was scheduled for Sunday morning.

"WE INVITED every college and university — all 120 of them — in Texas," said Steve Cragg, vice president of Southwestern's Student Senate and the convention's organizer.

"We especially encouraged representatives of the private, independent colleges and universities to attend this year," Cragg said.

Headliners on the program included State Representative Mickey Leland of Houston, who was the keynote speaker at the Friday luncheon, and State

Rep. Fred Head, who was on a panel to discuss "The Future of Higher Education in Texas: Cost and Quality" at Saturday's luncheon.

Workshops and seminars explored such topics as TSA history, university governance, innovative curriculum, faculty evaluation, legal rights and grievances of students, student loans and defaults, and "how to lobby."

FLORENCE NEWS

BY MRS. J. E. CASKEY

Mr. and Mrs. Les Burgess of New Braunfels were in Florence to take Mrs. L. R. Armstrong to visit Miss Lola Wales at the Wesleyan Home in Georgetown.

Mrs. Estelle Stapp was in Austin to visit Quinton Stapp and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Hallmark shopped in Georgetown on Saturday.

Russell N. Watson Jr. of Silsbee visited the J. E. Caskeys Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Claude Brizendine was among the Saturday shoppers in Georgetown.

Weekend guests in the Ed Rose home were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lyles of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Grimm and Rusty of Georgetown and Miss Dina Rose of San Marcos.

Mrs. Joe H. Whittenberg of Georgetown attended services at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and spent the day with her aunt, Mrs. L. R. Armstrong. They attended the dedication service and barbecue supper later in the day.

Mrs. W. D. Walker left Monday for Granbury to visit the Bobby Rosenbusch family.

Mrs. Clytus Caskey was shopping in Georgetown Saturday. Mrs. Estelle Stapp was in Round Rock to visit her sister at the Lutheran home.

Dedication services for the Educational Building were held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. Officiating at the dedication were Bishop W. McFerrin Stowe; the Rev. Michael Patison, District Superintendent; and the Rev. David Seilheimer, pastor of the church. Tom Atkinson and Ed Rose presented the building for dedication. The note was burned after the Bishop's sermon.

A number of visitors from other towns were present. A barbecue supper was served after the service.

Rev. and Mrs. Pat McClatchy, who lived here when he was pastor, sent beautiful flowers.

Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Stein, former pastor, now of Killeen, were present for the service.

Quinton Staff of Austin was the supper guest of his mother, Mrs. Estelle Stapp, the last of the week.

Mrs. Sam Windsor of Austin

was a visitor in Florence on Sunday.

Herbert W. Smart of Austin visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smart, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Alberts spent a very busy week around Dallas and Fort Worth.

On Friday, October 23, they went to Plano. They visited in the Donald Shinn home, where they were joined by their son, Grady. All then went to hear Grady play Saturday with the Tommy Latham Show at the Fort Worth-Dallas Airport Marina Hotel Penthouse Club.

Sunday they attended the Dallas Cowboy/Chicago Bear football game. Then on Monday, the Alberts went to Fort Worth to attend the Grand Chapter of Texas, 94th Session, Order of the Eastern Star.

Thursday they returned home.

Also attending the Grand Chapter Session from Florence Chapter were Mrs. Evelyn Caskey, Mrs. Alberta Mallett and Mrs. Nettie Cargill.

Several members of the Levis and Lace Club have been visiting their caller, Slim Herrington, who is a patient in Kings Daughters Hospital, Temple. Slim fell and broke his hip on the patio of the square dance building on Brewster Street just prior to their regularly scheduled dance on October 23.

Everyone was grateful to the 2 callers who came to help with their dance on that night.

Several members attended the Lem Gravelle Dance held in the Community Center in Georgetown, Saturday night. Lem is from Louisiana and is quite an interesting individual as well as an excellent caller.

Mrs. Louise Zander dies in Taylor

Mrs. Louise Schier Zander, 82, of Route 1, Bartlett, died Tuesday evening, November 2, 1976 in a Taylor Nursing Home. Mrs. Zander was born February 4, 1894 in Burton. She was a member of St. Peter Lutheran Church at Walburg. She had been a resident of Route 1 for the past 76 years. Services were held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. from St. Peter Lutheran Church, Walburg. Reverend Bill Metting officiated at the service. Interment was in the church cemetery under the direction of Condra Funeral Home of Taylor.

Mrs. Zander is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Emma Braun of Georgetown; Miss Marie Schier, Mrs. Norma Braun and Mrs. Richard Schneider, all of Bartlett and one brother, A. O. (Pete) Schier of Taylor and a number of nieces and nephews. Pallbearers were Charles Braun, Raymond Clark, Clarence Liese, Doyle Hobbs, Howard Tonn, Alex Bielss, Cecil Schneider, Robert Schier and William Tonn. Honorary pallbearers were Eugene Marak, Larry Bielss, Paul Lindholm, Jr., Wayne Braun and Pat Braun.

John Sedwick rites Saturday

Conservation awards to be presented Tues.

Two local ranchers, Harlan "Bud" Lee and D. B. Wood will receive conservation awards Tuesday night.

The annual Little River-San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District Awards Supper will be held at 6 p.m. on November 9 in the Bartlett Town Hall.

Retired District Judge D. B. Wood will receive an award for Wildlife Conservation. He is credited with making the effort to bring deer to Williamson County.

In 1939, Judge Wood obtained 20 fawn from the Texas Game Department, the predecessor of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. At the time, there were very few deer in the county. He introduced the herd of 20 and the population of deer in the county is largely the result of his efforts.

Bud Lee will be honored as the Outstanding Conservation Rancher of the County. He and his wife have operated a ranch on Highway 29, west of Georgetown for the past 12 or 15 years. They have developed an excellent program of conservation and their efforts will also be recognized Tuesday night.

Speaker for the occasion will be Johnny Watkins of KWTX-TV and radio of Waco.

Tickets are $2.75 for the supper. They are available at the door or at the District Conservation Office in Georgetown from E. L. McAndrew.

FOOD TRAINING will be conducted for all 4-H Foods Leaders and Junior Leaders on Wednesday, November 10th. We will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Texas Power and Light Meeting Room in Taylor. We will go over rules of the Food Show, distribute materials and have a short demonstration. All 4-H Foods Leaders and Junior Leaders are urged to attend.

THE WILLIAMSON COUNTY 4-H council is made up of two delegates from each 4-H Club across the County. They meet every other month to plan county activities and discuss the 4-H program. Officers for the Council are: President-Gayle Brister, Taylor; Vice-President-Ernie Rohlack, Coupland; Secretary-Elaine Lange, Thrall; Treasurer-Michael Lidell, Jonah. These new officers will guide the council through the coming year. The next meeting of the County Council will be December 6th in Leander. The meetings are hosted by the different 4-H Clubs and rotated across the county.

GAYLE BRISTER, Taylor; and ERNIE ROHLACK, Coupland; will represent Williamson County on the District 10 4-H Council. The District Council meets three times a year to plan District activities and events. The District Council also gives the youngsters an opportunity to discuss county activities and keep up with what is happening in 4-H. We are pleased to have these two youth serve as a link between Williamson County 4-Hers and the other 17 counties in District 10.

ON SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, beginning at 8:30 a.m. we will have a 4-H work day at the Williamson County Livestock show barn in Georgetown for 4-H members with livestock projects. If you need help trimming your livestock project, make plans to attend this work session. It will be necessary for you to bring your livestock to the show barn in Georgetown.

LISA STUART reports that the Georgetown 4-H Arts and Crafts Project Group met Tuesday, October 26 in the Livestock Building in San Gabriel Park. The following officers were elected: Karen Smith, President; Janet Wenzel, Vice President; Laura McVey, Secretary; and Lisa Stuart, Reporter. Group leaders are Delores Wenzel and Carol Burgeson.

Various Christmas ideas were shown and discussed. The following members were present: Karen Smith, Janet Wenzel, Laura McVey, Lisa Stuart, Cindy Boydston, Alice Grapski, Chuck McVey, Arlinda Ramirez, Regina Rodgers, Cynthia Standefer, Kendall

Stone, Joy Wenzel and Sue Ellen Woodlief.

The group's next meeting will be Tuesday, November 9 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Livestock Building in San Gabriel Park. All members are urged to attend and bring necessary supplies to work on various Christmas projects.

Congressman to visit SU

Henry B. Gonzalez, U. S. Congressman from San Antonio, will be at Southwestern University Tuesday, Nov. 9, for a series of talks.

Gonzalez' principal speech will be at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in Bishops Memorial Union. It will be open to the public.

THE CONGRESSMAN is also slated to speak to a government class later that morning and at noon to the Political Science Society.

Gonzalez was elected to Congress in 1961 and he has moved up in House leadership to the post of zone whip for the entire Texas delegation.

He has served since 1971 as chairman of the international monetary institutions and finance subcommittee of the House Banking, Currency and Housing Committee. He also serves on the House Committee on Small Business.

AMONG HIS MOST singular legislative accomplishments have been the defeat of the bracero program in 1963 and the passage of legislation calling for federal sanction and participation in HemisFair 1968.

With his election in 1956 to a four-year term in the Texas Senate, Gonzalez became the first citizen of Mexican descent to be seated in that body in 110 years. In the Texas Senate, Gonzalez, with Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo (now also a U.S. Representative), participated in the longest filibuster in the history of Texas. The two directed the filibuster against what they called 10 "race" bills previously passed by the House of Representatives.

Congressman Gonzalez' visit is sponsored by the Bicentennial Committee of Southwestern University.

The Title VII Nutrition Proposal, providing money for nutrition for the elderly, is one of the topics on the agenda for the Monday night meeting of the Board of Directors of Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities, Inc.

Williamson County is next in line to present a proposal for nutrition for the elderly to the Governor's Committee on Aging, according to Florence Ebeling of the Center. The proposal will include pilot programs in Georgetown, Taylor and Round Rock, feeding 122 senior citizens per day at the neighborhood centers.

At the November 8 meeting, Rawleigh Elliot will also discuss family planning recommendations and Ardelta Ramey will explain the changing emphasis in the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA).

A House sub-committee agreed Texas' presidential preference primary law should be revived, with refinements.

A tax-paying, investor-owned electric utility

In an Energy Efficient Home... it's the things you can't see which can save the most money.

Texas Power & Light has an important new program of help for home owners, home buyers and home builders. TP&L's "135-Point Energy Efficient Home Plan" is a complete guide for savings on the cost of electricity in the home.

The program is explained in a 16-page booklet which is yours for the asking. The booklet tells not only how to get the most efficient use of electric appliances and equipment you now have, but things to consider in selecting replacement or additional appliances and equipment. The most valuable part of the booklet is the 135-point rating checklist which you can use to measure the energy efficiency of your present home or one you may be planning to buy or build. You'll learn how it's the things you can't see... construction and insulation of the home, location and installation of heating and cooling ducts, etc.... which can save the most money.

For your copy of the "135-Point Energy Efficient Home Plan" booklet, visit, call or write a Texas Power & Light Company office... it's yours without cost or obligation.

$100 million plan OK'd

Water bonds lose, sewers win

Georgetown and Williamson County joined state voters in rejecting a $400 million water bond proposal and accepting a $100 million proposition to improve sewer systems that state voters approved.

ACCORDING TO UNOFFICIAL counts the second proposition carried by 107 votes in Georgetown and 6 votes in the county.

Seventy-five percent of county voters cast ballots in the bond issues. A spokesman for Texas Secretary of State Mark White said it was not unusual for bond issue voting to run lower than presidential voting in the same election.

Texas Election Bureau officials said 2,099,225 persons voted in the Proposition No. 1 race and 2,108,211 in the Proposition No. 2 contest. This is about half the 4,007,586 who voted in the presidential race.

THE REJECTED PROPOSAL would have allowed issuance of $400 million in bonds for water projects. It would also have allowed the Texas Water Development Board to issue up to $35 million in bonds for projects without legislative approval. WATER BOND opponents claimed the proposal would have given a few officials almost unlimited power to shape the state's water development.

John Henry Faulk, head of Citizens Against Water Taxes, which fought the water bond plan, said the results showed Texans "too smart to buy a pig-in-a-poke."

Faulk said the referendum failed primarily because officials did not specify how the bond money would be used.

Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton, who endorsed the water bond plan along with Gov. Dolph Briscoe, said voters may not have been well informed on the issue.

CLAYTON ADDED, "Also, there was a lot of emphasis in this election on the presidential contest. If (the bond issue) never got off the ground,"

The second proposition, which passed, will provide loans to local governments improving their sewer systems. Faulk praised its passage, saying he felt it would help stop water pollution in Texas.

SNAKE HUNTING ANYONE? — Mervin Walker spotted this five foot, three inch rattlesnake crawling into a hole on the Milton Wolbrueck place near Weir Tuesday. Charles Smith gathered up the snake catching equipment Wednesday morning and a few brave citizens went snake hunting. Charles managed to capture the snake alive; however, it coiled around the catcher pole and broke its neck. Charles proudly displays his catch, holding it by the tail while Mervin stands at a safe distance behind. The snake weighed 7¼ pounds and was 8½ inches in circumference. The rattlers had been broken leaving only six.

Behind the making of
Gone With the Wind

PEOPLE'S CHOICE: Clark Gable, seen here as the gambling ladies' man Rhett Butler, was without a doubt the public's choice for the part in "Gone With The Wind," something that always embarrassed the self-effacing Gable.

"Like the audience at that time, Selznick had a very romantic view of Hollywood, a real love of it."

That's how film director George Cukor once described producer David O. Selznick, the man most responsible for the film adaptation of Margaret Mitchell's best-selling novel, "Gone With The Wind," which will be colorcast in two parts -- as a Big Event Sunday, Nov. 7 (8-11 p.m., EST) and Monday, Nov. 8 (8-10 p.m., EST; 9-11 p.m. PT) -- on the NBC Television Network.

The son of movie pioneer Lewis J. Selznick and the son-in-law of MGM head Louis B. Mayer, the younger Selznick was very much aware of his family ties and eager to establish a reputation on his own.

Before his 30th birthday, he was at the helm of RKO Studios, responsible for such films as "Little Women," "King Kong," "Of Human Bondage" and "What Price Hollywood." He then moved to MGM where he produced "Dinner at Eight," "Viva Villa," "Anna Karenina," "David Copperfield" and "A Tale of Two Cities."

But the desire to be on his own prompted Selznick to form his own company, Selznick International Pictures, taking over the former Thomas Ince studio in 1935.

Soon developing a reputation for producing supremely crafted motion pictures, Selznick suffered economically until he was convinced to produce "Gone With The Wind."

When filming was completed, the producer remarked just before a Hollywood press preview: "At noon I think it's divine; at midnight I think it's lousy. Sometimes I think it's the greatest picture ever made. But if it's only a great picture, I'll be satisfied."

When an arthritic condition precipitated an early retirement from an active career as a feature journalist for the Atlanta Journal Sunday magazine, a young Atlanta woman was persuaded by her husband to write a novel.

The time was 1926. Nine years later, Margaret Mitchell's voluminous manuscript was presented to a representative of McMillan publishers, who promptly responded to the new writer's anxiety with a reassuring check for $5,000.

The novel was "Gone With The Wind." While the movie has gained a grand reputation, the book has also claimed a niche in publishing history as well.

Its 1,307 page length was a record for a novel at that time. As the work of an unknown author, it was a selection for the Book of the Monty Club prior to

GAME PLAYERS -- Was Robert Culp ever a regular on The Name of the Game? Tommy says he replaced Tony Franciosa for half a season, I say he only appeared in one or two shows. Mark Feinberg, Nutley, N.J.

Tell Tommy he's wrong this time. After Franciosa was dropped from the series, Culp, as well as a number of other actors, did guest spots, filling in for him. Culp appeared in an episode with Barbara Feldon, in which she played a poor little rich girl turned environmentalist radical. Is that the one you remembered?

COMPANY CAR -- Does the red car with a white stripe for Starsky and Hutch belong to Paul Michael Glaser and what is Paul's address? Mike Goodknight, Frederick, Okla.

Lots of interest in Glaser this week. The Torino, like all cars used in television, is merely another piece of company property. It doesn't belong to Glaser but to the show's production company, which is where you can write to him: Spelling-Goldberg Productions, 20th Century Fox, 10201 West Pico Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif.

'21 Hours at Munich':
Anti-terror memorial

"We wanted to do something in memory of the innocent young men who were caught up in a situation not of their making and were forced to sacrifice their lives," say Frank von Zerneck and Robert Greenwald, the youthful co-producers of "21 Hours at Munich," the new movie which recreates the horrors surrounding the 1972 Olympics. The film airs on The ABC Sunday Night Movie Nov. 7 (9-11 p.m., EST).

"It's a story that should be told; it is not a cops-and-robbers suspense drama, nor is it overly political, but it does come out strongly anti-terrorist. You can't argue with the truth."

The details of the story are painfully familiar to the millions all over the world who watched the 15 hours of live coverage by the ABC Sports team on the scene. Eight Palestinian terrorists climbed over the fence of the Olympic Village to take the Israeli athletes as hostages in an attempt to force the Israeli government to release 236 Arab prisoners. Twenty-one hours later, 17 people were dead -- 11 Israelis, five terrorists and one West German.

Starring in the recreation -- which relied entirely on eyewitness reports -- are William Holden as Munich Chief of Police Manfred Schreiber, Shirley Knight as Annaliese Graes, a member of the Women's Olympic Security Service who became the contact point between the terrorists and the authorities, and Franco Nero as Issa, leader of the Palestinians.

Painstaking research was provided by the producers, writers Howard Fast and Edward Hume and director William Graham before filming began at 30 Connollystrasse and the airfield at Fuerstenfeldbruck in Munich, the actual sites of the tragedy.

The German government reports were studied carefully and the services of three technical advisors were obtained: two were retired policemen and the third was Annaliese Graes, now a member of the Police Department in Essen, West Germany. (Even the clothing of these involved is exactly duplicated.)

"Everything there looks the same as it did in 1972," von Zerneck says, "except that there is more shrubbery than four years ago. The apartments on Connollystrasse, now called the Max Planck Institute, now house visiting psychiatrists, who are given six months free rent."

The subject is, naturally, a very sensitive one in Germany, but the producers are high in their praise of the cooperation given to them by the Munich city and Bavarian state governments: "Everyone was helpful; they gave us armored troop carriers, helicopters and police cars so we could present the incidents the way they happened. We had full access to all the evidence and we even talked to people who were not interviewed at the time."

The film makes no effort to portray Issa as a sympathetic character, but the producers note that "The Palestinians were not lunatics; Schreiber and Annaliese told us they behaved like professionals, calculated and well organized. Schreiber said, 'How do you deal with men who are as smart as you are and hold all the cards?' Franco Nero plays Issa as a determined and dangerous man."

"We wanted to show the frustration and meaninglessness of terrorism, and the fact that it is impossible to defuse once the first step has been taken. When it happens, it must be confronted immediately."

Ironically, the movie completed filming on July 4 -- the date that Israelis went to Entebbe on a startling and successful rescue mission that paralleled the plan put forth (and rejected) by Israeli General Zvi Zamir (played in the movie by Anthony Quayle) in Munich in 1972.

TV Dialogue

U.N.C.L.E II -- Is it true they're going to remake the TV series The Man from U.N.C.L.E.? It was my favorite show. Will David McCallum be in it? Deidre Mizkly, Waterbury, Conn.

MGM is indeed making an attempt to bring the series back to television. They are trying to entice both McCallum and Robert Vaughn to recreate their original roles of Illya Kuryakin and Napoleon Solo. Whether the idea comes to fruition seems to rest on the okay of these two actors.

STARCROSSED -- I recently saw an old movie on TV called "Six Bridges to Cross." Tony Curtis starred in it, but in the beginning there was another actor playing Curtis' part as a teenager. A friend of mine says it was Tommy Sands. I say Sal Mineo. Who's right? Jack Kullen, El Paso, Tex.

You are. The late Sal Mineo starred in that film, his first.

GLASER AGE -- How old is Paul Michael Glaser, is he married and is that a Boston accent I detect in his voice? Mary Lee Kelly, Manchester, N.H.

Glaser is 33, single and it's a Cambridge, Mass., accent you detect, which is close enough to Boston.

David Birney's back

A good actor gives TV another go

By DAN LEWIS

The good acting that men do is oft interred in their public images -- to paraphrase the Bard. And so it is with David Birney, who has won awards for his acting in theater but is best remembered to date as Bernie, the young man loved by Bridget in a mindless situation comedy series, Bridget Loves Bernie, a few seasons back.

How many TV devotees know that David Birney won a Theater World award for his performance in "Summertime," at New York's Lincoln Center, portraying the young man who went to Vietnam to die? Or that he was a member in excellent standing at both Lincoln Center Repertory Theater and the New York Shakespeare Festival, or that he played Romeo at the American Shakespeare Theatre in Stratford, Conn.?

They remember him for Bridget Loves Bernie.

But now Birney has returned to the regular television wars, in a role so diametrically opposed to the character in his last series that he hopes people will recognize his wide scope as an actor. Birney, of course, is the star of Serpico, an NBC series (Friday nights at 10-11), bringing to the small screen the further adventures of a former real-life New York undercover cop named Frank Serpico, who was so conscientious, that when Serpico was shot in the face by a punk, his fellow cops took up a collection -- for a lawyer for the perpetrator.

Serpico was first portrayed in a feature film by Al Pacino. The film about his admitted bisexuality, and talks with rock star Kiki Dee, Daily Mail gossip columnist Nigel Dempster and sex book author Jackie Collins.

"Journey Into Fear" (1942) Orson Welles, Joseph Cotten.

CYCLING round town is David Birney who had to learn to ride a motorcycle for his role as Frank Serpico. So far, he's only had one crack-up.

grossed over $20,000,000. It was expanded into a TV pilot, with Birney in the role of cop who fought corruption within the department as well as criminals.

When the company came into New York for several weeks of shooting, a police car drove up to Birney one afternoon on a street location, and the cop at the wheel wanted to know what film they were shooting.

"It's a television series -- Serpico," Birney answered.

The cop in the police car made a sour face, raised the back of his fingers to the underside of his chin and flicked them out in a well-known gesture of contempt. They're not too crazy about Serpico around New York police circles.

Serpico wrote a book about his experiences in New York, which Birney read. "I wanted to get a feel of the character," Birney said.

What was his reaction to Pacino's portrayal in the film? "Pacino is a good actor, too," Birney said with a smile. "But there are certain things that will come out differently."

Birney's reaction to his Bridget Loves Bernie experience is mixed. The show did have good ratings. Why not? It was sandwiched between All in the Family and Mary Tyler Moore Show on Saturdays. It was a false security, and the network (CBS) realized that. Unfavorable reviews were universal and the show was cancelled after just a single season, although it ranked in the top 20 most of the season.

"But I had a complicated reaction," Birney confesses. "I enjoyed doing it, I was disappointed in the level of achievement. It was no relief when it was over."

But the biggest bonus from that series was that he won a wife. He married the young lady who played Bridget, Meredith Baxter. They now have a little daughter, (Meredith has two children from a previous marriage).

"So good and bad things came out of it," Birney joked.

He decided to push "new frontiers" in his acting career after the series, which, incidentally, was his first in prime time. (He had been featured in the daytime soap opera, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" for two years before going to Hollywood.)

But after Bridget Loves Bernie, Birney did "Romeo and Juliet," and the Public Broadcasting series "The Adams Chronicles," a movie in Europe, and a guest-starring role on "Police Story."

"They were the kind of roles -- like Serpico -- people wouldn't expect to see me playing," Birney observed.

He did have some trepidation about going back into a series. It was not because of the disappointment of his previous series experience, he emphasized.

"I know how much hard work there is -- 60 to 70 hours a week," Birney declared. "There is enormous pressure, especially knowing the kind of money that is at stake. And you work six and seven days, without time to even rehearse."

One of the demands of the new role was to learn how to ride a motorcycle, which he had never done before. The first day at work, he was taking instructions on driving the motorcycle when he lost control of it and ran into a crowd of workers. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured.

Birney hopes the critics, and the viewers have the kind of patience that rarely is evidenced when it comes to the security of a television series. "The first six or seven episodes of any show really are the shakedown," he explained. "I hope the critics are patient."

FOOTBALL CONTEST

PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November. So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $10, $5 or $3 for first, second or third respectively
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, in dicating your pick in each game.

SAUERKRAUT COOKS Mrs. Walter Mickan of Walburg (left) and Mrs. Edgar Bamsch of Jarrell had to cook up a storm to keep a supply running between the kitchen of Walburg's Zion Lutheran School and the tables in the dining hall, where Wurstbraten patrons were eagerly digging into German cuisine.

Wurst, wurst everywhere

Sausage, sausage, and more sausage was the order of the night last Monday at Walburg's Zion Lutheran School, where the Zion Church of the community held its annual Wurstbraten (sausage fry) festival. A miniature of a similar event to the south, New Braunfels' annual Wurstfest, Wurstbraten featured about 1,600 pounds of homemade wurst, smoked and then cooked to perfection over wood coals in outdoor pits. Approximately 1,000 people from Georgetown, Walburg, Jarrell, and other surrounding communities turned out to enjoy the German fare in the Zion School's gymnasium, nearly overwhelming the hard-working cooks indoors and outdoors.

Work for the Wurstbraten begins with smoking of the sausage the Saturday before the event, and continues until the last lip-smacking morsel has been consumed and the last dish washed.

When last Monday's edition of Wurstbraten was concluded, Walburg workers reported almost all the mountain of food had been eaten. Money collected (at $2.50 a plate) from the dinner and from sales of extra sausage will go this year for renovation of the kitchen and dining facilities in the school.

The church members who arranged the affair expressed thanks to everyone who turned out for their festival. They (and their satisfied customers) are eagerly looking forward to next year's.

WHAT YOU SEE is what you get, proclaims Norman Domel's apron as he and Robert Domel of Thorndale enjoy Walburg's Wurstbraten (sausage fry) festival. The slogan turned out to be apt as about 1,000 people got about 1,600 pounds of sausage last Monday night in the community north of Georgetown.

AND WHEN THE PARTY'S OVER, there's (ugh) the washing to be done, as evidenced here by (from left) Mrs. E. E. Boriack, Mrs. Schwausch, and Mrs. Al Litzler. Members of the Zion Lutheran Church congregation in Walburg were tying up the loose ends long after their visitors had departed with smiling faces and content tummies.

SMOKE GETS IN YOUR EYES when you're frying homemade sausage in pits, as Wurstbraten cook Herman Teinert finds out. Benny Draeger of Georgetown (background) seems to have a handful of the stuff.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD M. WILSON

The voter turnout for the big election was quite good, and I am proud to say that it was my privilege to be among the group to take advantage of one of our most valuable freedoms — the right to vote!

After going by the scene of our International Sculpture Symposium and observing the dedicated people at work, I have an even greater respect for people who are dedicated enough to indulge in the art. Only someone with a very unique strength of character and an exceptional desire to create something of lasting beauty, would endure the cold and discomfort that must be associated with sculpting.

Last Wednesday morning two busloads of students from Austin came up to our town to observe the artists in action, all for free. We sincerely hope that everyone in the area will have the desire to come by and take advantage of this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see these renowned artists from many farflung parts of the world at work right here in Liberty Hill!

The Liberty Hill Panther Band will be attending the UIL Marching Contest which will be held in Round Rock next Tuesday, November 9.

Our Band will be performing at 10:40 a.m. at the Round Rock football field, and your presence and support will be deeply appreciated by all of the musicians and their director!

The Liberty Hill girls have started practice in preparation for the coming basketball season.

All of the students were very pleased by the mighty Panthers' victory over the Florence Buffaloes last Friday evening by the score of 14-0. There was a "victory dance" after the game.

The Panther Drill Team will perform at one of the pep rallies soon.

The Halloween King and Queen, Curtis Floyd and Cindy Montgomery, were crowned at the carnival last Saturday night.

The Community League Football Association will sponsor a "turkey shoot" on Sunday afternoon, November 7, at 2 at the Liberty Hill Roping Arena 2 miles southwest of Liberty Hill on FM Road No. 1869. The admission charge will be 50¢ for adults, and everyone under 14 years will be admitted free.

The events will include a turkey scramble, for youngsters between the ages of 5 and 9. There will be another for everyone between the ages of 10 and 14. The entry fee will be 50¢ for each contestant.

Other events will include categories for big bore rifles with a scope, big bore rifles without a scope, 22 rifles with a scope, pistols, and trap shooting. Each contestant has his choice of shooting positions (kneeling, prone or sitting) but no artificial rests will be allowed.

A frozen turkey will be given to the winner of each event, and everyone is encouraged to come out, have a "fun time" and help promote the Community League Association Program.

The Community League Football Association will have two "ALL STAR GAMES" on Saturday, November 6, at 4 p.m. on the Liberty Hill High School football field.

The first game will be for boys 7 through 9 years who are coached by Jim Brewer, Loni Loyd, and Anthony Stephens. The opposing team will be The Austin Golden Eagles and Coach Johnny Earle who have won 7 games and lost 3.

At 6 p.m. a Liberty Hill Team for 9 through 12 year-olds under coaches, Gilbert Vickers, Tommy Farr, and Howard Earle will play an Austin Golden Eagle Team for boys of the same age.

During the halftime of the game, for the 9 through 12 year-olds the "sweethearts" of the Liberty Hill Cubs and the Liberty Hill Shorthorns will be crowned.

Also during the half, a rifle will be given to the holder of the lucky ticket.

These games are expected to be fast moving and exciting, and everyone is exhorted to come out to these games and show your support of our Liberty Hill boys!

The Liberty Hill Garden Club will have the regular monthly meeting on November 10 at the Rock Church of Christ. The guest speaker of the day will be someone with you. We will learn together!"

The Ladies of The Liberty Hill Garden Club have been preparing lunch for the sculptors each Monday, and they will continue to do so for the duration of the symposium.

We got a report from Margaret Nix of Nix Haven that she had 41 guests at her picnic in observance of her eightieth birthday anniversary, but Mrs. Nix was the only one of her age from our town to come out. It was a bit of a disappointment that no one else in the eighties took advantage of the beautiful weather.

The guests who were there from many points all over Texas had a good lunch of chicken, salad, cake and drinks. Everybody had so much fun playing the games and enjoyed the wonderful serenity of the surroundings at the little park that they plan to come back next year!

We were pleased to learn from Nancy Leuschner that she and husband, David, are the very proud parents of a bouncing baby boy, David Martin, who was born October 4 at the Georgetown Hospital. Young David weighed 9 pounds, 3 ounces, and he was 21 inches long at birth.

The young man was greeted at home by a brother, Tony, and two sisters, Anna and Lisa. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seaton of Florence, Alabama, and Mrs. Florence Leuschner of Denville, New Jersey. It was a pleasure meeting Nancy and young David Martin, and we sincerely congratulate David and Nancy. That's all for now. KEEP SMILING!!

Liberty Hill board meets Monday

Liberty Hill's school board will hear a report on a study by the Governor's Office of the taxable wealth of school districts when it meets in the high school at 7:30 p.m. Monday, November 8.

Also scheduled for consideration by the board are: a report by the district's tax assessor-collector; the University Interscholastic League's football plan for 1977; a proposed change in policy regarding pay periods for school district employees; modification of Wednesday school schedules for curriculum development purposes; finishing of floors in the high school; and vouchers. The board will also consider a real estate transaction during a closed session before it adjourns.

Let's stop rape

The Georgetown Women's Political Caucus is presenting a program on rape Tuesday night.

A rapist, popular belief tells us, is the son of a domineering mother, the husband of a nagging wife, or the frustrated neurotic consumer of sexual material, who goes berserk.

Not so, say FBI statistics. The rapist is not very different from the typical perpetrator of other violent crimes.

Research has shown he frequently lives in or near the victim's neighborhood. Rape is usually planned. It is not generally the spontaneous explosion of uncontrollable needs.

Often the lone rapist or the gang of rapists lure the victim into an advantageous place or set up the situation and select the victim by chance. Usually physical force or display of a dangerous weapon is an element of the sexual assault.

The profile of the rapist turns out to have some aspects of that of the man who commits aggravated assault and the man who commits robbery. Perhaps this is because the rapist views the victim as a hated person — someone to assault — and as a desired property — something to rob. On a per capita basis the Southwest leads the nation as the homeplace of the rapist.

How do we reduce the incidence of the crime? Why rape?

Engaging these questions generates conflict. Women are told to avoid strangers, dark streets, provocative behavior, and to acquire locks and escorts. If the rules are violated, then the victim may be viewed as inviting or deserving rape.

Potential victims, especially women, find their fears constantly fed by popular literature.

Every woman knows about Jack the Ripper, the Boston Strangler and Richard Speck.

Even if why were answered, we still have the need and desire to decrease the incidence of the crime. In addition, we need to deal helpfully with rape victims. This is where the whole community can respond and do something constructive.

Tuesday night's program on rape, 7:30 until 9:00 p.m. at Georgetown High School, is aimed at dealing with the problem realistically and helpfully.

The Director of the Austin Rape Crisis Center will discuss reasonable preventive measures that strike a balance between enjoyment of freedoms valued by women today and common sense caution. Specific precautions can be taken when walking, driving, or staying at home. Thinking about what to do beforehand can make a crucial difference in handling an attack once it takes place.

There are also definite do's and don'ts for the rape victim when reporting the crime. Evidence should be preserved.

A representative of Austin Police Department's Homicide Division will be on hand on Tuesday to talk about what happens at the police station as well as at the hospital when the victim reports the sexual assault. In addition, the APD spokesman will touch on what the victim may expect when the crime is prosecuted.

Sheriff Bosshard and the Georgetown Police Department have agreed to have representatives on hand at the meeting. People may informally talk with them about Georgetown's procedures and plans for handling rape cases.

The Georgetown Hospital is contemplating initiating

LIBRARY RECEIVES BOOKS ON RAPE — Barbara Pearce and Ann Snell presented 2 recently published books on rape, How to Say No to a Rapist and Survive and Against our Will, to the Georgetown Librarian, Verne Philpot. The books were gifts from the Georgetown Women's Political Caucus. The Caucus is also presenting a community service program on rape, its realities and preventive measures, on Tuesday, November 9, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the High School theater.

procedures for caring for local rape victims — there were four last year and they had to be sent to Brackenridge Hospital in Austin. Members of the medical staff at Georgetown Hospital will be present at Tuesday's meeting. You may want to talk with them.

Our community can no longer dismiss rape as something that happens only in big, bad cities. In light of the fact that rape is a present problem, several local civic groups have joined in an effort to look at the problem of sexual assault and to do what we as a community can do to protect our citizens from attack and to aid those who are attacked.

Come out to share your concern and to get the facts. The program on rape is this Tuesday, November 9, 7:30 until 9:00 p.m. in the Georgetown High School Theater.

Sandefur named to TCA post

David Sandefur, former administrator for the Sweetbriar Nursing Home in Georgetown, is the new administrative assistant to Clinton Kersey, director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. Sandefur has served as a counselor with the Child and Family Service in Austin and as a director of Child Care and Training with the Texas Youth Council.

A Temple native, Sandefur was graduated from Southwestern University with a BA degree in Sociology and later received an MS degree in social work from the University of Texas at Austin. He serves as Director of the Georgetown Optimist Club and is a commissioner for the Georgetown Housing Authority.

"I look forward to my association with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. There can be no doubt that the alcoholism field is indeed a dynamic area of human concern and interest," Sandefur said. "As the single state authority on alcoholism the Texas Commission on Alcoholism has a great task to

Riverside HD plans parties

The Riverside Home Demonstration Club met Thursday, Oct. 28, 1976, in the home of Mrs. H. R. Lee.

Sixteen members and two guests, Mrs. Tulia Ischy and Mrs. Arthur Baker, answered roll call with "What I like best about winter."

Final plans were made for the Riverside H. D. Club Family Thanksgiving Supper to be held in the VFW Hall at 6:30 p.m., Nov. 18, 1976. Preliminary plans were made for the Christmas party to be held in the same place on Dec. 9.

Officers for 1977 will be installed at the Williamson County H. D. Council Christmas party to be held at Stonehaven at 2 p.m. on Dec. 13. They are Mrs. Cleo Rodgers, president; Mrs. Susan Long, vice president; Mrs. Ruth Hawes, secretary; Mrs. Leroy Peterson, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Blanton, council delegate; and Mrs. T. H. Godwin, parliamentarian.

The next regular meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Horace Flinn on Thursday, Nov. 11.

The leader training program, "Managing Your Wardrobe," was presented by Laverne Faubion, and Highlights of a tour of the Northeast was presented by Mrs. Elmo Reed.

SU grad plays at Baylor

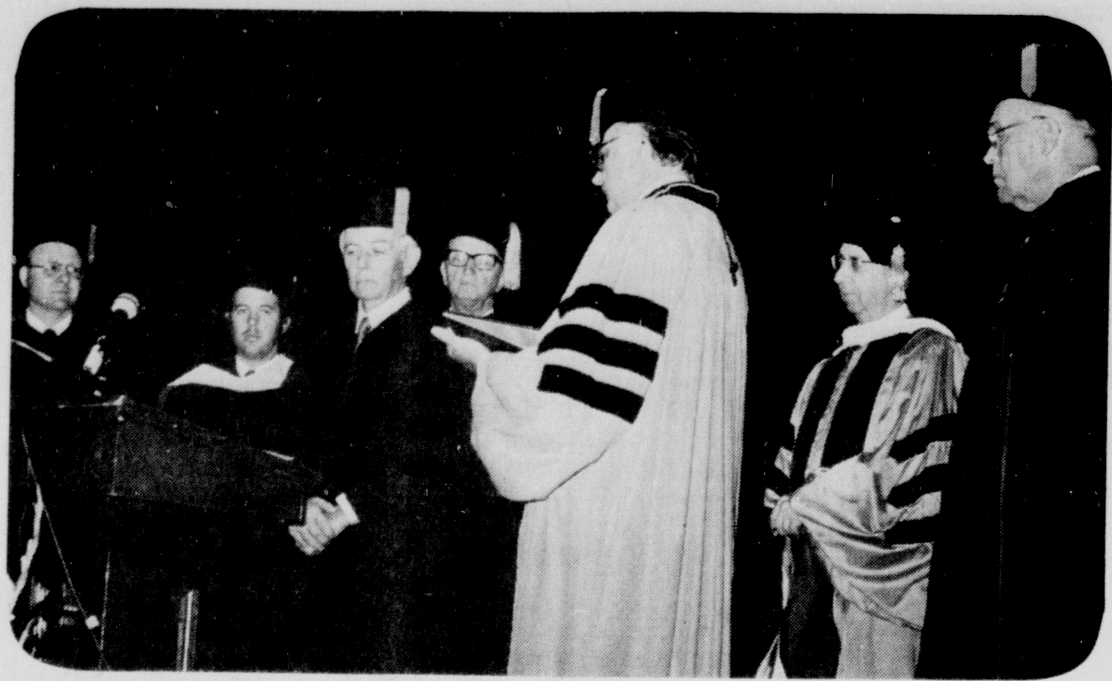

Dane Evans, pianist, will play a faculty recital at Baylor University Thursday, November 11, at 8:15 p.m. in Roxy Grove Hall.

Evans, who joined the Baylor faculty as lecturer in piano in 1975, is a graduate of Southwestern University and Indiana University, where he has also begun work on his doctorate.

The recital program will include "Variations on an Original Theme, Op. 34" by Beethoven; "Rondo Brillante, Op. 62" by Weber; and "Sonata III" by Hindemith. Also, "Theme and Variations, Op. 73" by Faure, "Scenes d'Enfants" by Mompou, and "Transcendental Etudes No. 10 and 11" by Liszt.

The recital is open to the public. Admission is free.

RECEIVING the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Southwestern University October 29 is A. Frank Smith, Jr., who is vice chairman of the university's Board of Trustees and a long time supporter of the school. Assisting with the conferring of the degree are (from left) Dr. William B. Jones, administrative vice president and provost of the University; Dr. Theodore Lucas, dean of the School of Fine Arts; Dr. Smith; Dr. W. McFerrin Stowe, Bishop of the Dallas-Fort Worth area of the United Methodist Church; University President Durwood Fleming; Dr. F. B. Clifford, dean of the Brown College of Arts and Sciences at Southwestern; and Dr. J. Chess Lovern, Bishop of the San Antonio area of the United Methodist Church.

Convocation speakers praise private schools

Three prominent Texans spoke on the place of the private, independent university in higher education this last weekend at Southwestern University.

Dr. Norman Hackerman, president of Rice University, spoke to the President's Council of Southwestern Thursday evening.

AND JUDGE JOE GREENHILL, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, and A. Frank Smith, Jr., noted Houston attorney, both spoke at Convocation ceremonies Friday where Smith received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Hackerman, who served as president of the University of Texas at Austin before becoming president at Rice in 1970, reviewed what small, private universities could do compared with the large public universities.

Hackerman said that public universities had grown larger because of the necessity "to coordinate, to systematize and to increase cost effectiveness." HE COMPARED the organized fiscal operation of a university with the learning process, which he called "not organized — they each do it their own way."

In the large university systems, Hackerman said, the "structure inevitably grows, and as it grows it will ultimately swallow up the unstructured, disorganized learning arrangements."

He quoted Mark Twain, "You learn by having a teacher on one end of a log and the student on the other end." The more students per teacher, the less opportunity for learning, Hackerman said.

BECAUSE the smaller private university can provide more learning opportunity, according to Hackerman, the independent sector of higher education is stronger at this time than it has been in the last 20 years.

Hackerman told of the recent history of higher education and how public institutions had grown since 1950. Now about 80 percent of Texas high school graduates go to public colleges and universities, and about 20 percent to private, independent institutions.

This percentage has held steady in recent years, Hackerman said. "Those institutions in the independent sector are by-and-large sound and effective," he said.

"Interest in the independent school has been re-aroused among those whose concern it is to use the public treasury to ways best suited for public function."

USING what he called a "pragmatic approach," Hackerman said, "If it is accepted that a bachelor-degreed person is of value to the state, then what difference does it make where that bachelor's degree comes from?"

"If the bachelor's degree comes from Southwestern University rather than from the University of Texas at Dallas, then the state has acquired a unit for nothing, hasn't paid a cent for it, whereas the one out of Dallas cost the public $1,800."

Hackerman said that while the private schools of Texas got only 20 percent of the students, they furnished 28 percent of the college graduates last year in the state.

HE ALSO pointed out the growing pressure for private giving to support public institutions.

"Last year public institutions acquired $1.8 billion from such giving while private schools received $1.4 billion."

Hackerman concluded by saying that the contribution of private schools "is more than providing choice, more than providing flexibility, more than providing self governance — it actually is gainful for the state."

CHIEF JUSTICE GREENHILL, speaking the next day at Southwestern's Convocation, applauded the efforts of such as A. Frank Smith for leadership in keeping private education strong.

Judge Greenhill traced the history of higher education in Texas to its earliest days.

"If a monopolistic, self-controlled system of private education as we had under Mexico was undesirable to our Texan forefathers, it seems equally obvious that it is undesirable that there be a monopoly of public higher education now or in the future, or that the state have complete dominance in the field of higher education," he said.

The chief justice said he was not suggesting that the state was going to abolish or take over private education.

BUT THE DANGER which I'm sure is obvious is that because of economic pressures many institutions of private learning have been in trouble, many still are, and some have had to close their doors."

Greenhill talked of the impact of inflation on operational costs and of recession on endowment and investments of private schools. And he also emphasized the financial service to taxpayers.

"It comes through loud and clear that the private institutions are doing the taxpayers of Texas a great service. These private institutions are not only deserving of our support for the good they are doing in their own ways, but for what they are saving the public," he said.

TOUCHING ON public support of private schools, Greenhill told of what the Texas Legislature had done with the Tuition Equalization Grants program started in 1971 that provides students attending private schools as much as $600 a year based on need as long as that is not used in a theological or religious degree program.

He cited a U. S. Supreme Court ruling in June (concerning Maryland schools) and said that "hurdles have been factually and legally cleared that there were no excessive governmental entanglements with religion, nor political entanglements between church and state."

Pointing to private, independent education as an important part of a democratic way of life, Justice Greenhill said:

"PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS serve a vital role in higher education in this country because they are a check and a balance to a sometimes overwhelming governmental presence in higher education."

"Private education is essential as a counterweight of what might otherwise too easily become what we see almost everywhere else in the world — a system of higher education which is a tool of the state."

The man honored at the Convocation, A. Frank Smith, Jr., used examples of Southwestern University to demonstrate why he believed "an institution of this kind is the cornerstone of higher education in this country."

SPEAKING at a luncheon before the Convocation, the Houston attorney re-emphasized that while only 20 percent of Texas students went to private colleges, "the education that the 20 percent get is unsurpassed."

Smith said that the student-faculty ratio at Southwestern was 12 to one. "In larger institutions it will be 25, 35, even 45 to one."

"Our classes here will have from 15 to 25 students in them," he said, while larger institutions "will sometimes have 300 to 400."

"IN SOUTHWESTERN'S music department students are taught by the concert pianist we just heard (Drusilla Huffman) at a larger institution they will be taught by a student assistant, in all likelihood."

"In Southwestern's science laboratories we have equipment that our students use on a day-to-day basis that in the larger institutions are available only to graduate students."

Such advantages of the small school add up to what Smith called "a superior, educated student."

SMITH GAVE examples of such students, again using Southwestern.

"In Southwestern's science dept. this past year every student applying to a graduate school was admitted."

Nine of 10 applicants to law schools were admitted.

There were from various medical schools this year graduated five Southwestern alumni. Four of those five were number one or two in their classes at those medical schools.

"Eighty per cent of the class of 1975 in a time of tight employment, secured employment in their own chosen fields."

SMITH CONCLUDED with an example of Southwestern's accounting program.

There are two national accounting exams given each year, one to first year students and one to second year students. This year Southwestern's first year group had 41 percent in the top 10 percent of the nation while the second year group had half of the class in the top 10 percent.

"The median grade in accounting on these examinations of both the first and second year

Fruit sold to fund athletes

The Eagle all-sports Boosters Club have plans for a big fresh fruit sale. Don Hewlett (chairman), Charles Satterfield, Al Cummins and Ray Mikan are heading this fund raising drive and they ask all parents and friends to become involved.

Order blanks are available for the purchase of 40 pound boxes of grapefruit or oranges at $7.00 each and 20 pound boxes of this fresh valley fruit at $4.00 each.

Area businesses might consider buying fruit for employee Christmas gifts.

Some of the priorities and needs of the Georgetown athletic program will be discussed at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Field House. Parents and friends of Georgetown Eagle athletes are urged to attend.

Football Banquet plans will also be discussed at this meeting.

Judy Birch is a winner

She's A Winner! Nov. 3 Miss Judy Birch of Georgetown received her second seal for 300 volunteer hours at the Wesleyan Home.

This gives Judy 1,100 volunteer hours, according to Mrs. S. Wayne Reynolds, Activity Director.

Miss Birch has received such awards as $100.00 from Piggly Wiggly on Aug. 23, 1976, an 8-track Stereo Tape Player from TG&Y on Sept. 1, 1975, a 500 Volunteer Hour Certificate on Oct. 16, 1976 from the Wesleyan Home and now a 300 Volunteer Hour Seal from Wesleyan Home on July 22, 1976.

As you can see she's a real winner.

Winterrowd to perform for TMEA meeting

Jack C. Winterrowd Jr., son of Jack and Shirley Winterrowd of Thrall, is a participant this year in Texas A&M's up-and-coming University Symphonic Band.

Slated as guest band for the Texas Music Educators Association convention in February, the 72-member organization is directed by Joe K. McMullen.

The TMEA guest band invitation is a coveted honor among the state's bands. It came for the Texas A&M symphonic band during its third year of existence. The convention of band and choir directors and music teachers is planned for San Antonio.

Membership embraces all parts of the Texas A&M campus. The symphonic band has graduate and undergraduate students, faculty and personnel, with 34 women members. Many of the musicians have earned statewide recognition for ability, a number studied music before transferring to Texas A&M and some also march in the Texas Aggie Band.

Women's Concert Choir performs at St. John's

The Women's Concert Choir of the University of Texas will be performing in the 10:50 a.m. service at St. John's United Methodist Church on Sunday, November 7.

The 39-voice choir directed by Ann S. Bunyan, will present the following sacred selections: Ave Maria from Triptych, Vum Vi Ve Vo, The Place of the Blessed, the Carol of the Rose and the Alleluia Chorus.

The Choir will also perform in Taylor at St. James' Episcopal Church at 5 p.m.

At the Taylor performance the group will present an expanded program including both sacred and popular music.

The public is invited free of charge.

accounting students was the highest of any school in the nation," Smith said.

"Put good students with excellent faculty and give them individual attention and this is the result," Smith concluded. "This is what the private, liberal arts, small university does for higher education in America."
